

PANESE FLEETS APPEAR AT AMOY AND AT TSINGTAO IN CHINESE COAST

Long Squadrons Are Said

Cruise and Not Making

ANTON ORDERS ALIENS PROTECTED

Reported That Chiang, Dusted as Head of Cantonese Forces, Is Concentrating Troops to Defy Dismissal.

By the Associated Press.
HANGHAI, April 1.—Two large Japanese fleets have appeared on the Chinese coast, one at Amoy, in the north, and the other at Tsingtao, in the south.
It was said in Japanese quarters that the visits were merely part of annual cruise and not intended as a display of force in the Szechuan situation.
The fleet at Tsingtao consists of three battleships, three cruisers, six destroyers and eight submarines.
The second fleet, at Amoy, includes three battle cruisers, five cruisers, 14 destroyers, five minesweepers and auxiliary craft.
Reports from trustworthy sources indicate that Chiang Kai-shek has dismissed as generalissimo of Cantonese armies by the Hangchow government. All indications show that Chiang is concentrating his forces in the Shanghai district to defy the dismissal.

There have been persistent reports of a split in the Cantonese
army, with Chiang Kai-shek and followers opposed by the radical left wing, counseled by Russian, Michael Borodin.
The divergence came to a head
at the conference of the Kuomintang
at Hankow, several weeks ago. At that time, Borodin said that the Cantonese army was under the control of the Cantonese government, and that the military council, thus in the hands of the radicals, was conducting a campaign against the government, pushing his forces toward Canton until they dominate the entire area between the Yangtze.

In this movement he crushed
forces of Marshal Sun Chuan-
shang and overthrew five governments in Central China, and has pursued his successes against the successor, the Shantung
governor, Chang Tsung-shang. Chiang Kai-shek is now in Shanghai, where he arrived after an anti-foreign outbreak and barbarism at Nanking, which ended occupation of that city by forces of his.

Reuter dispatch from Hangchow dated March 26, said
mumun was in full power in the moderate Kuomintang government had been suppressed, and a Eugene Chen, the Cantonese minister, appeared to be winning. It was believed, however, that Chen would be retained in official capacity because of success in dealing with representatives of the foreign Powers.

OKIO, April 1.—The Japanese warship Yagumo has been ordered to leave Yokosuka tomorrow for Hankow, with a landing party of blue-jackets.

Chinese government has issued a decree ordering the Cantonese not to allow foreigners in the city.

sentatives of the foreign Powers.

THOUSANDS QUIT WORK IN MINES IN SOFT COAL AREA

Large Percentage of Nearly 200,000 Men in Central Field Out as Wage Contract Expires.

75,000,000 TONS
HELD IN STORAGE

Negotiations for New Working Agreement in Central Field Continue in Separate Localities.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 1.—The coal mining industry in the central competitive field today enacted a curious phase which was neither a strike nor a lockout, but which forced thousands of miners into idleness as the Jacksonville wage agreement expired.

Many temporary agreements have been made throughout the mining area to continue work, but it was apparent that a large percentage of the nearly 200,000 men employed in the central field and adjacent fringes had laid aside pick and shovel pending solution of a problem that the conference of miners and operators at Miami, Fla., several months ago failed to solve.

Probably the full extent of the shutdown will not be known until early next week, as organized fields observe April 1 as "eight hour day," marking the anniversary of the first eight-hour day legislation for miners. Saturday is a half-holiday and on Sunday mines are not operated, so that the actual counting of noses must go over until Monday.

Operators, who maintained that they could not continue the Jacksonville agreement, said that they could not accept a wage contract, pointed to many individual agreements for temporary continuation of the Jacksonville pact.

In Iowa, it was said 40 small operators had signed temporary agreements. Indiana mine officials said 15 per cent of the 25,000 union miners would continue work, while in Illinois the union announced that all mines in the Danville district, including two operated by the United States Fuel Co. and employing 2,000 men, would remain open.

The general public took the situation rather apathetically, knowing that more coal was in storage today than ever before and that warm weather was approaching.
Between 75,000,000 and 80,000,000 tons of bituminous coal are above ground, according to Government estimates. Some operators believed there would be no need to operate mines for at least 90 days,
and in addition a steady supply of fuel was expected from nonunion fields.

The Jacksonville agreement, which was negotiated four years ago, governs the wages and working conditions of coal miners in the Jacksonville field.

FORD REMOVED TO RESIDENCE FROM HOSPITAL

Manufacturer, Injured in Automobile Accident Sunday, Returned to Dearborn Estate Last Night.

RECOVERY ONLY
MATTER OF TIME

Physicians' Bulletins Indicate That the Patient Is Making Satisfactory Progress.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., April 1.—
Henry Ford, injured in an automobile accident last Sunday evening,
was taken back to his Dearborn estate last night, it became known today.
The removal from the hospital
was made shortly before 9 o'clock
last night, Ford, it was understood,
was chafing under hospital restraint
and with the approval of Dr. R. D.
McClure, chief surgeon of Ford's own hospital, the 10-mile journey back to Dearborn was undertaken.

In giving his approval of the return to Dearborn, Dr. McClure said the injured man could be treated as well at his home as he could at the hospital. The bulletins issued throughout yesterday from the hospital described Ford as progressing satisfactorily. Only time now is needed, McClure said, to complete full recovery. He added, however, that Ford would have to "lie flat
on his back."

Spinal Back Still Painful.
It was not until shortly before noon today, 16 hours after Ford had been removed, that official confirmation of the change was made.

"This is the fifth day after the accident," said a bulletin issued by Dr. McClure. "Last night Mr. Ford was removed in an ambulance from the hospital to his residence. The spinal cord is still somewhat painful, but the patient is making satisfactory progress."

That even at his own urgent request Ford was permitted to return home, was accepted as indicating nothing seriously wrong was found after minute examinations at the hospital. It was understood that the desire for x-ray pictures of the back and chest conditions was one of the chief reasons for sending Ford to his hospital after he had lain in his home for two days after the accident.

Ford lies prostrate strapped and braced about the chest and back.
Sure It Was an Accident.
Harry H. Bennett, head of the Ford organization's nationwide system of investigating, today said that he at first accepted the theory of a plot to assassinate the world's richest man but that it was not tenable after he and his investigators had gone thoroughly
over the ground and had analyzed
the report of the Dearborn Police Department.

"Ford himself does not think there was any plot," Bennett said.
"In his mind, as in my mind, it was an unavoidable accident. Someone was hurrying by, inadvertently struck his front wheel with enough force to throw the steering wheel out of Mr. Ford's hands for an instant and to cause the accident."

"I believe this is one of those accidents that will never be solved.
Our only hope is that people who were driving in the vicinity of it Sunday night will come forward voluntarily."

Bennett said a report that a certain type of motor car was damaged as if it had been run in such an accident as that which injured Ford had been run down and that it was found that the car in question had not been in the vicinity of the accident Sunday night.

"We are not searching for any particular kind of a car now," he said.

Hundreds of Telegrams.
Since the news of the accident
was made public last Wednesday,
hundreds of telegrams have been received by the Dearborn Independent, from friends throughout the country.
Among them was one from Thomas
A. Edison, at East Orange, N. J., inquiring as to Ford's condition and expressing hope for a speedy recovery. The telegrams were taken to the Ford home.

Ford returned to spend the period of recuperation within a few hundred yards of the spot at which he nearly lost his life. Standing at the River Road bridge, over which he just had passed when his car was hurled down an embankment, the roof of the home is visible over a high wire fence
and well beyond towering tree tops. In his home now, Ford will be able to see the city which has disturbed him in the urban hospital will be heard. The confines of the vast estate were doubly guarded today.

DIFFERENCE OF TEN BILLIONS IN EFFECT OF I. C. C. DECISION AND SUPREME COURT RULE ON RAILROAD VALUATIONS

STREETS FLOODED AS WIND DRIVES DRENCHING RAIN

Many Families Flee Homes
Second Time in Two Weeks as River Des Peres Overflows.

FALL IS 2.97 INCHES
AT 7 A. M. TODAY

Six Persons Killed, Three
by Lightning in Missouri
Kansas and Oklahoma
During Thunderstorms.

A drenching rain, which reached its greatest intensity when six-tenths of an inch fell in the 10-minute period beginning at 9:43 o'clock last night, was accompanied by a 35-mile wind that drove water in veritable sheets, impeding traffic, taxing the capacity of sewers and floating away wood block pavements in the central and western sections of the city.

For the second time in less than two weeks the River des Peres went out of its banks, driving a score or more of families from their homes in the lowlands and inundat-ing low sections of Forest Park.

In the period of greatest intensity,
beginning at 9:43, more than one-fifth of the total rainfall for 24 hours was recorded. For the period ending at 7 a. m. today the Weather Bureau rain gauges showed a total fall of 2.97 inches.

Hundreds of Autos Stalled.
Driven by the gusty wind, the rain fell almost horizontally
through the radiators of automobiles, and during the storm hundreds of machines were stalled with drenched ignition systems.

The rain here was part of a storm which brought a heavy precipitation for virtually all parts of Missouri and Kansas, and parts of Oklahoma, causing six deaths and delaying train service.

Skinner Road Blocks Flood.
In St. Louis the storm did little more damage than that of March 19, when the River des Peres was out of its banks by a rainfall of 1.45 inches. The wood blocks on Skinner road, north from Forsythe, were floated away by the water and carried down a Forest Park roadway between the public golf course and the city.

The driving rain swept the streets clean of dust and mud, except in the low places and today they presented a newly-scoured appearance
not to be duplicated by any application of man-made cleaning method.

Last night, however, they were running deep in water, which gathered where the ground was low and stalled automobiles by flooding ignition systems.

250 Calls to Auto Club.
Many motorists, stalled in deep pools, were pushed out by other automobiles which drove the helpless cars ahead of them like switch engines behind freight cars. The Automobile Club had 250 calls for help from stranded motorists between 7 p. m. and midnight and 30 between midnight and 1:30 a. m.

W. W. Horner, chief engineer in the Department of Streets and Sewers, said the water was higher than at any time since the storm
of 1915, when 11 inches of rain fell in 20 hours. He found that the reconstructed portion of River des Peres, which is being confined by artificial methods under a bond issue item, carried the water off
the streets.

On the streets on which the streets are still left to its own devices, however, were flooded and where the surrounding territory was low the water spread over wide areas. The city sewers were taxed beyond their immediate limits by the storm and a crew was kept on duty all night to clear jams.

The Weather Bureau announced today that the Mississippi would probably rise six feet here in the next 24 hours.

AMERICAN WOMEN AS SEEN IN FILMS PUZZLE SWEDEN

Censors Try to Reconcile Their Abuse on Screen With Their High Place in Real Life.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Because citizens of Sweden could not understand how it is the women are treated in American movies in one way and in American movies in another, two pictures recently shown on Broadway are being subjected to further scrutiny at the behest of a member of the Royal Government Board of Film Censors of Sweden. The pictures are "Twink-letoes" and "The Marked Woman."

John S. Sumner, secretary of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, said that: "Dr. R. G.
Stenberg, of the Swedish censorship board, told me that American films constituted a real problem in his country. He said that, whereas his people had been told and had coverly reason to believe that the average American places his women on a pedestal, and treats them with the greatest veneration, yet almost every American film shown in Sweden, and that is 80 per cent of all the films shown there, depict scenes in which a woman is violently treated."

"He expressed the opinion that this was not a healthy situation, either for his people or for ours, as we would naturally be judged by our product and asked me what he could do about it while he is in America."

It appears at this time that the only bidders will be the old owners who have united in a plan of reorganization. If the property is sold to them, Judge Faris thereupon will be called upon to approve the plan of reorganization, which,
in effect, hands over the property to its bondholders. Common stockholders are wiped out and preferred stockholders given only rights to purchase at $12.50 a share the common stock of the new company, the St. Louis Public Service Co.

The Judge did not fix the date of sale. Under the statute, the special master is required to begin advertising the sale within 10 days and to continue to advertise it for four consecutive weeks. Thus it would appear that the actual sale will occur early in May.

SAPIRO RECEIVED $20,000 TO OBTAIN LOANS TO FARMERS

Reed's Cross-Examination of Plaintiff in Ford Libel Trial Develops Fees for Service.

GOT CASH FROM WAR FINANCE BUREAU

He Was Hired as Attorney for Co-operatives Also but Denies That Was Part of Bargain.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., April 1.—Approximately $20,000 was paid to Aaron Sapiro for obtaining loans to Washington for co-operative farmers' organizations, he testified today in his $100,000 libel suit against Henry Ford.

The time he actually spent at the capital, appearing before the War Finance Corporation, Sapiro said, was "several days" in the fall of 1921. He represented 13 cotton, wheat and tobacco associations.

After establishing the amounts collected by Sapiro, who for 15 years has been organizing co-operatives, and the approximate time he spent in floating the loans, Senator James A. Reed, attorney for Ford, switched his cross-examination to the Mississippi Growers' Association. The witness, who claims his reputation with the farmers was injured by articles in the Ford-owned Dearborn Independent, says his fees from that group for 1921-22-23 totaled $13,750.

Sapiro when questioned as to work with the Texas cotton growers, admitted he had demanded a $2000 fee and traveling expenses from New York to Dallas, to make speeches and explain contracts to the farmers.

"Before you went further than making speeches, you had an agreement that you be named counsel for all commodity co-operatives in the State, didn't you?" Reed asked. "I wouldn't say there was an agreement, but I was to be made counsel."

Fred M. Raymond, Reed's lawyer in the examination today said: "Your Honor, this witness is continuing to wrangle over fine points and finding fault with my questions rather than attempting to answer them."

Reed had asked Sapiro as to speeches made in Texas in 1923 in behalf of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association.

"You were still there in 1921?" asked Reed. "You mean was I there again?" he asked. "Your question indicates I was there the whole time."

"All right, all right, sir, have it your own way," the Senator replied, and turned to the Judge to protest.

Sapiro was upheld by the Court in this instance as justified in not answering Reed's first question.

Tells of Texas Cotton Body. The Ford attorney started his third day of cross-examination by going into the organization of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association. Sapiro testified there were bankers and heads of other agricultural associations on the pre-organization committee, but no warehouse men that he could remember.

"You started in to get a million bales of cotton contracted for?" said Reed.

"That was our goal," Sapiro said he had received no money for speeches explaining cotton contracts. That was considered part of his work. He admitted he told of advantage he hoped would be realized by the association, and attempted to persuade farmers to join.

Reed read the article, which quoted Sapiro as saying he was not interested primarily in money, but wished to take the children of Texas out of the cotton fields and put them in schools and to take the women from the fields and put them in their homes.

Sapiro, said the article, told of the success of co-operative organizations in California, where they had been in existence for 26 years. He told of the great change at Fresno among the raisin growers, prosperity following organization of the co-operatives.

Corrects Sentence From Memory. Sapiro followed Reed in the reading, and although he had no copy before him, stopped the Senator two or three times to correct him from memory. The Senator left a "not" out in one section, which changed the meaning. Corrected by the witness, himself an attorney, Reed said the word was almost obliterated and he had not seen it.

In reference to the California co-operatives and their success, the Senator read "we" found, "we" did, and so forth. The Senator halted again by Sapiro, who insisted "they" had been used instead of "we."

IMPEACHED JUDGE FOUND NOT GUILTY BY INDIANA SENATE

Clarence W. Dearth of Muncie Acquitted on All of 7 Counts of Corruption and Misconduct.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 1.—Judge Clarence W. Dearth of the Delaware County court yesterday was acquitted by the Indiana Senate on all seven counts of impeachment charges of corruption and misconduct in office.

The impeachment charges alleged restriction of the freedom of the press, appointment of an unqualified jury commissioner, confiscation of newspapers, impeachment of unqualified jurors and other alleged corruption and high crimes.

"I am innocent," Dearth said, after his acquittal. "I am going back and do my duty, as I always have done."

He said he would be back on the bench at Muncie tomorrow.

Thirty-two votes was the nearest the Senate came to casting the 34 votes required for conviction under the rule that two-thirds of the Senators must vote for conviction. This vote, 32 to 17, came on the second count, which charged unlawful appointment of Jacob Chavannah as jury commissioner.

The charges against Dearth were the climax of a long controversy between Dearth and George R. Dale, editor of the Post-Democrat, a weekly newspaper published at Muncie, county seat of Delaware County. When Dearth ordered confiscation of an issue of the Post-Democrat in which was printed an article that he held responsible for the destruction of his property, Dale and his friends took steps to bring the matter before the State Legislature which was then in session.

The impeachment charges were voted by the House of Representatives following an investigation and a special session of the Senate was voted to try Dearth.

Dale several times has been sentenced by Dearth for contempt and one such sentence has been appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Fees for Loans. Sapiro listed fees for the loans he was instrumental in obtaining while at Washington in the fall of 1921. California Prune and Apricot Growers, $2000; Washington and Oregon Wheat Growers, $2000; Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, $1300; Oklahoma Cotton, $2000 or $3000; Georgia Cotton, $1000; North Carolina, $2000; Arizona Pima Cotton Association, $1750 and Arkansas Cotton, $1500. Defunct Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association.

Reed's Questioning. ASSOCIATIONS of farmers which for one reason or another, have ceased to exist were kept continually before Sapiro by Senator Reed yesterday. Sapiro's activities in organizing and counseling co-operatives were carefully traced from Oregon to Alabama and from Texas to Canada.

Seldom did the Senator gain an admission from the witness, however, that the organizations had not been successful before passing out of existence.

Sapiro was too quick for his questioner who had difficulty in remembering the long and numerous titles. The witness himself a lawyer smiled indulgently as he prompted the white haired veteran. In one instance he even suggested a question which he thought would help Reed bring out the point he had in mind. The Senator, however, ignored the proffered aid.

Sapiro persisted in adding comment to his answers in an apparent effort to clarify and Reed appealed to Judge Raymond to stop him. Facts and figures rolled from the tip of Sapiro's tongue with confusing rapidity.

The Senator questioned Sapiro as to meetings of the National Wheat Advisory committee.

"Was the raising of funds ever discussed at these meetings?" he asked.

"The ones we are talking about," Sapiro replied. "You asked me about meetings in Chicago, Denver and minor conferences, which do you mean?"

The Senator after a moment of consideration specified the Chicago meeting.

Sapiro said a budget had been discussed. The witness testified he had contributed $5000 to the fund, which was to aid co-operatives, and Bernard Baruch gave $5000. He was prevented from listing further contributions by an objection from William Henry Gallagher, his attorney. Sears, Roebuck & Co., a mail order house headed by Julius Rosenwald also contributed, Sapiro said, but the sum was not named.

The Northwest Wheat Growers' Association, The Texas Tomato Growers, Texas Farm Bureau Melon Exchange, the Texas Potato Exchange, and the Texas Wool and Mohair Exchange had ceased to exist Sapiro admitted.

CITY BUDGET FOR NEXT YEAR PLACED AT $24,544,176

Estimates of Departments of Their Needs More Than $4,000,000 in Excess of Closing Year.

By the Associated Press.

HEADS of city departments, estimating department needs for the fiscal year 1927-28, have reached the total of $24,544,176. The total of appropriations for the same departments for 1926-27 was $20,114,057, and the estimated revenue for the coming year is not greatly in excess of $20,000,000.

The annual trimming process will follow, when the budget bill reaches the new Board of Aldermen, at its sessions in the latter part of this month. Last year, proposals to eliminate certain activities, especially the Psychiatric Clinic, caused discussion. The budget matter has not yet gone far enough to indicate where cuts will be made this year, but it is evident that large cuts will be necessary.

The estimates show these classified totals: Salaries and wages, $10,490,696; special services, $359,771; supplies and expenses, $5,616,756; police purposes, $1,894,934; and Police Department, $5,734,800. The last-named item, under State law, is not subject to reduction by the city authorities.

Some of the estimates of department heads, as to sums needed for the coming year for particular items aside from salaries, are: Sewer inlets and outlets, $100,000; Rock Creek sewer, $50,000; Skinker-Rosedale sewer, $100,000; street improvements, $100,000; Union Market refrigeration system, $10,000; new City Hall elevator, $15,000; elevator, City Hospital, $5000; structural survey Eads and Municipal bridges, $10,000; painting Municipal Bridge, $28,000; steel maintenance, $10,000; resurfacing roadway, Municipal Bridge, $85,000; bituminous paving section, $70,000 for equipment and road oiling; City Sanitarium pumping plant, $150,000; reconstruction of streets, $77,949.50; flushing motor trucks, operation and maintenance, $100,000; training school laundry and equipment, $60,000; same, had in capital, $30,000; cow barn, $50,000; horse barn, $20,000; residence, $16,000; Koch Hospital, roadway, $50,000; Bellefontaine Farms, recreation administration and chapel building, $50,000; cleaning City Hall, $73,000; hospital construction (a fixed annual item), $190,000; extending underground telephone system, $159,000.

THE organized bituminous fields of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, an area formed the central competitive field because of its competitive position with nonunion coal production in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, West Virginia and Virginia.

The pact specified a minimum day rate of $7.50, while the wage scale in the nonunion fields ranges from $4.40 to $5 a day. Operators said they could not renew the Jacksonville pact and successfully commanded the Astatic fleet, would have available a force of sailors and marines of 6000 men for landing if required for the protection of American lives.

SHANGHAI, China, April 1.—United States warships will soon be on duty at every important point along the Chinese coast, from Canton in the south to Tientsin in the north, guarding the lives of American citizens.

The destroyer Pillsbury is on its way to Tientsin, Shantung Province, and the cruiser Asheville has been ordered to Tientsin, which was the base of the foreign expeditionary force in the Hoxer rebellion of 27 years ago.

A pronounced weakening in the authority of the Ankuochun (northern) war lords in the provinces nominally under their control, has caused anxiety lest the collapse of the militarists bring on an outbreak of anarchy in which foreign lives would be imperiled.

There is danger especially in Shantung where Gen. Chang Tsung-chang prestige and authority have been much diminished by his ignominious election to the Cantonese.

Evacuation of refugees continues at flood tide throughout the south. Fifty-two more Americans have left Hankow, from which the British also are bringing out all "surplus residents."

MILAN TO CENSOR MISQUOTATIONS ON GRAVESTONES

Excerpts From Bible or Classics Must Be Accurately Inscribed.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (New York World and East-Dispatch).

MILAN, Italy, April 1.—Garbled quotations from the Bible or from the classics which are carved on gravestones will be corrected, according to one of the provisions of a monument censorship instituted by the Governor of the city. Hereafter those desiring to engrave quotations from the Bible or perhaps from Dante's poems on tombs must show enforcement authorities a book with the exact text to be engraved.

The order is retroactive. Inscriptions cursing those responsible for war or civil disorders will be removed or the offending sentiments deleted.

pete with the bituminous production from nonunion fields, which they claimed now averages about 70 per cent of the country's total production of soft coal.

This point was stressed by Rice Miller, head of the Illinois Operators' Association, who said that approximately 72,000 Illinois coal diggers had joined the walkout, resulting, he said, in the closing of about 150 shipping mines.

"Six years' experience under an absolutely noncompetitive arrangement made by the Iowa Operators' Association, which failed last year, has shown that the miners will starve rather than take work for less than they now receive."

Morris charged that efforts were being made by the Iowa Operators' Association to influence bankers to withdraw funds from independent operators who plan to continue operations.

Negotiations Continued. All efforts toward settlement yesterday met with failure, but several new moves were in prospect, although there was no indication of a general conference. Both sides in Ohio have made proposals for a meeting, but neither camp has replied. Operators and miners in the southwestern field planned to resume negotiations today, with some optimism apparent.

W. L. A. Johnson, general commissioner of the southwestern Interstate Operators' Association, said that a number of minor phases of the controversy already had been ironed out.

Union officials in Pennsylvania estimated that 40,000 workers were affected in that region, and they maintained that a large number of nonunion miners also left the pits. The nonunion fields in West Virginia were expected to be little affected. A strike call was issued in the northern part of the State by Van A. Bittner, union representative, but only one union mine is in operation there.

President John L. Lewis planned to speak today at Taylorville, Ill., at the upwelling of the Blythe monument erected in honor of a miner of that name who lost his life in a mine riot at Virden, Ill., in 1898.

NINE ST. JOSEPH (MO.) BANKERS ARRAIGNED

Indictments Follow Closing of Two Banks With Heavy Loss to Depositors.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 1.—J. T. Stewart, president of the Fidelity Trust Co., which closed Dec. 23, and J. Harold Stewart, his son, cashier, were arraigned in Buchanan County Criminal Court today, on indictments returned by the grand jury yesterday.

The father faces nine indictments and the son five in connection with the failure of the Fidelity. The elder Stewart is charged with leading more than $40,000 to himself, obtaining signatures to notes fraudulently, embezzling and with accepting deposits when he knew the bank was failing.

Seven Others Arraigned. The president, cashier and five directors of the Security State Bank, which failed May 13, 1925, were arraigned last night on indictments returned yesterday. They are W. E. Reed, president; Paul Holmes, cashier, and Dr. E. D. Holmes, Veatch Wilson, S. W. Beale, William Whitaker and J. L. Beagler, directors.

There are eight indictments against each man. Five charge accepting money when they knew the bank was failing and three over-extended the bank.

Dr. Holmes is a member of the Missouri State Board of Osteopathy and formerly was a member of the St. Joseph Library Board. Beagler was secretary and cashier of the First Trust Co. at Savannah, which failed last year. He is under indictment in Andrew County in connection with that failure.

The grand jury investigation has been under way since Feb. 14, when it was called by Judge U. S. L. Canfield. State Finance Commissioner, was one of the witnesses, and Robert Orr, liquidator for the Fidelity, and E. W. Brennan, liquidator for the Security, also testified and presented books and records of the bank to the jury.

The Security Bank was capitalized for $10,000 and deposits were $350,000. When it closed, officers stated that depression in the agricultural area was responsible, but the belief was expressed that depositors would lose little. So far, no payments to depositors have been made at the Fidelity, but the liquidator expects to pay another 10 cents next month.

Attributed Failure to Fear. The Fidelity Trust was capitalized for $100,000 and deposits totaled $700,000. About a year ago it absorbed the American Exchange Bank of St. Joseph.

The failure of the Fidelity was attributed by its officers to the psychology of fear. The depository was located a few steps from the Bartlett Trust Co., which closed earlier in the day, after a heavy

POSTAL MESSENGER, 71, WOUNDED BY BURGLAR

Assailant of W. J. Mikeworth, Montrose, Ill., Obtained Only 41 Cents.

By the Associated Press.

MONTROSE, Ill., April 1.—A 71-year-old postal messenger, shot and wounded by a burglar, who obtained only 41 cents, was found today in the waiting room of a railroad station when H. E. Stephens, railroad agent, arrived to open station at 6:30.

Mikeworth had been shot in the left side of the chest, the bullet lodging in the right lung. It was discovered when he was taken to a hospital in Effingham.

Detectives of the railroad arrived from Terra Haute, Ind., to investigate the shooting. They found that the burglar had forced open a window in the ticket office and taken only a few cents left in the money drawer overnight.

The aged postal messenger, who had a key to the waiting room, apparently had gone there to wait for train No. 6, which is believed to have been shot as he entered. A little hope for Mikeworth's recovery is held.

Montrose is 115 miles east of St. Louis.

ORRICK KEEPS JOB BY 17-TO-16 VOTE OF STATE SENATE

Stormy Executive Session Confirms the Once-Rejected St. Louis Police Commissioner.

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 1.—Allen C. Orrick was confirmed as a member of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners late yesterday, after a stormy three-hour executive session of the Senate.

Confirmation was denied a week ago, but Gov. Baker reapportioned Orrick and sent his name back to the Senate.

The wave of indignation in St. Louis after Orrick's rejection, when his name first was sent in by the Governor, and the protests of business and professional men, had more effect on the Governor than on the Senate. The fight for confirmation developed into one of personal interests, the interest of the Governor regaining influence with Republican Senators and the interest of Senator Cave of Callaway County in regaining the practice with the Democratic Senators which he lost in the fight against the confirmation of the members of the State Penal Board.

Neither was successful, although, combined, they accomplished Orrick's confirmation by the close vote of 17 to 16. Senator Donnelly of Lebanon not voting.

Mrs. Rose Boden Longworth, 20 years old, today obtained a divorce and $1000 gross alimony from Arthur W. Longworth, golf professional at the St. Louis Country Club, at a hearing at Clayton.

Longworth did not contest charges of general infidelity. Mrs. Longworth, who has been living with friends at 6314 South Rosebury avenue, Clayton, will return today to her home in Louisiana, where they were married March 17, 1925.

The divorce was granted after a hearing at Clayton. Longworth did not contest charges of general infidelity.

ORRICK KEEPS JOB BY 17-10-16 VOTE OF STATE SENATE

BAKER AND CAVE COMBINE DOES IT

Governor Swings Two Republican Votes, but Four Democrats Hold Out Against Their Leader.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 1.—Allen C. Orrick was confirmed as a member of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners late yesterday, after a stormy three-hour executive session of the Senate.

Confirmation was denied a week ago, but Gov. Baker reapportioned Orrick and sent his name back to the Senate.

The vote of indignation in St. Louis after Orrick's rejection, when his name first was sent in by the Governor, and the protests of business and professional men, had more effect on the Governor than on the Senate.

The fight for confirmation developed into one of personal interests, the interest of the Governor regaining influence with the Republican Senators and the interest of Senator Caye of Callaway County in regaining the practice with the Democratic Senators who he lost in the fight against confirmation of the members of the State Penal Board.

Neither was successful, although, combined, they accomplished Orrick's confirmation by the close vote of 17 to 16, Senator Donnelly of Johnson not voting.

Changes the G. O. P. Votes. The Governor was able to influence only two of the 19 Republican Senators, although he held the six Democratic Senators, who stood with him for the confirmation of Dr. Cortez F. B. and the other members of the Penal Board.

Case lost four of his Democratic colleagues, who were with him in the Penal Board fight—Senators Wammack of Bloomfield, Herford of Odessa, Ford of Maryville and Van of Ottumwa, voting against Orrick's confirmation.

The resubmission of Orrick's name and his confirmation marked a precedent in Missouri. Never before had the name of an appointee once rejected by the Senate been resubmitted. It was brought about by the St. Louis demonstration for Orrick.

The first plan was to attempt to obtain reconsideration in the Senate, but investigation indicated that such a move would not be successful.

On Sunday night the Governor began to consider pending in Orrick's name again, and that night Monday he conferred with Senator Brunk, Republican, and Senator McGowan, Kinney, Casey, Democrats. He told them he would reappoint Orrick if he could be assured that Orrick would be confirmed, and he delegated to them the task of canvassing the situation.

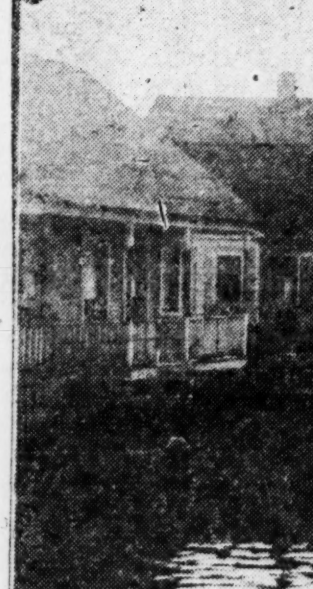

He was in frequent conference with these Senators, each of whom engaged in manipulations in the Senate in an effort to line up votes. Caye advised the Governor Wednesday morning that confirmation was certain and that the Governor would be diplomatic letter to the Senate asking it again to consider the appointment.

Personal Issue With Caye. Caye's close friends in the Senate, in private conversations with the Democratic Senators, urged them to stand for confirmation on the ground that it was a matter of personal concern to him in view of the prison-board debacle, to restore his leadership.

Brunk encountered much opposition among Republicans. On his side the Governor called several of the Republicans to his office and urged them to vote for confirmation, but he was unable to control only Brunk and Senator Hildreth of Macon. Caye had his group of six Democrats well in hand, except for Senator Donnelly.

On the other side, the four Republican Senators from St. Louis—Brunk, McGowan, Kinney, and Casey—were active in attempting to hold a majority against Orrick. They had carried the Republican nomination's fight against Orrick in the Senate and had succeeded in adding personally that it was the rule of "senatorial courtesy" prevailed, and with the originality in having him rejected. The originality in having him rejected. The originality in having him rejected.

Many Speeches on Each Side. There were many speeches on each side, the four St. Louis Senators speaking against confirmation and being supported in speeches by Senators Ralph of Valley Park, Republican, and Gordon of Liberty and Ford of Maryville, Democrats.

Urging confirmation the speakers were Senators Kinney of St. Louis, Casey of Kansas City, Whitecotton of Paris, Cave of Callaway, McCawley of Carthage, Democrats; Brunk of Aurora and Hildreth of Paris, Republicans.

The Governor gave the handling of the Orrick confirmation on the floor of the Senate to Kinney, who read selected telegrams and letters from among the hundreds of the Governor had received from St. Louis.

Before the executive session the leaders of the Caye group had expected at least 19 votes for confirmation among the Democrats, but during the days the resubmission had been under consideration there had been various situations in the Senate which had split the Democratic ranks.

How the Senate Voted. Although no record is made of votes in executive session, the line-up on Orrick's confirmation was: For confirmation: Democrats—Brown of Poplar Bluff, Bromfield of Brookfield, Gordon of Liberty, Gunn of Ottumwa, Herford of Odessa, and Wammack of Bloomfield.

Republicans—Bates of St. Louis, Depehauer of St. Louis, Lower of Sedalia, Mitchell of Branson, Mosier of St. Louis, Morgan of Cape Girardeau, Ralph of Valley Park, Summers of Kansas City, Terry of Festus, Warner of St. Louis and Willard of St. Joseph.

Not voting—Donnelly of Lebanon, Democrat.

Orrick Makes no Comment. Waits for New Commission. Orrick, at his law office today, would not comment on his reappointment and confirmation, except that he would not act as a member of the Police Board until he receives his new commission from the Governor.

HAWES SEEKS COMMISSION ON U. S. BUILDING IN ST. LOUIS

Senator Assured at Treasury Department Such a Plan Will Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Hawes (Dem.) of Missouri called at the Treasury Department today to request appointment of a commission to settle a controversy over the site of a Federal Building to be erected in St. Louis. He said he was assured that the question of appointment of such a commission to sit in St. Louis, would be considered.

A further conference between Hawes and representatives of the Treasury and Postoffice Departments will be held Tuesday.

Due to the failure of the last Congress to pass a second deficiency bill, no appropriation is available for construction of such a building. Authorization had been obtained previously for an office-type building, but the Treasury Department was more feasible arrangement would be for construction of a Federal Building to house various Government activities, including those now carried on in rented quarters.

Mrs. Roosevelt a Candidate. COVE NECK, N. Y., April 1.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. is running for office and is sure to be elected. She is unopposed as a candidate for town treasurer of Cove Neck, which after 200 years of dependence a few months ago by a vote of its 12 taxpayers.

MAIN STREET FEUD OF BERGER, MO., UP IN FEDERAL COURT

Folks on the "Right Side" of Town Make Liquor Case Against Wes Noedel of the "Wrong Side."

A Main Street feud which has embroiled most of the citizens of Berger, Mo., a town of 300 in Franklin County, is transplanted to Federal Judge Davis courtroom today, where Wesley Noedel, proprietor of a confectionery, is being tried for selling liquor.

There is, in the opinion of Berger's influential citizens, a right and a wrong side of the street. On one side live and do business the "better element." On the other is the "poorer element." The men thus designated do not call themselves the poorer element. They say the so-called "better element" are snobs and the real folks of Berger live on Wes Noedel's side.

Representatives of both sides are attending Noedel's trial, every man who amounts to anything in Berger or in the country round about. The crowd, like the town, is divided. So evenly is Berger divided that there are two banks, one on each side of Main Street, two barber shops, two general stores, two drug stores, etc.

Volunteers Make Case. Wes Noedel happened to belong to the "good folks" or "poor element"—according to which side of Berger's main street the one describing him lives. Six miles from Berger lived Albert Allersmeyer, a former member of the Ku Klux Klan, and allied with those who live on the "right side of the street."

He told on the witness stand yesterday, when the trial started, how he had suspected Noedel was selling liquor. So he got his farm hand, William Pope, and they rode into town to bring Noedel to book for his suspected sins. The first thing they did was to go to the bank of Berger where the self-styled "better element" have their accounts. There they told Cashier William Schaffner of the plan to catch Noedel selling liquor.

Schaffner, Pope and Allersmeyer, the chief witnesses for the Government, related that they went to Noedel's place across the street from the "right side" of town. Pope entered and the others peeped through a window so they could see the transaction.

Warrant Sworn Out. Pope testified that he asked for liquor and Noedel sold him a half pint bottle for $1, while the other guardians of Berger's morals watched. Having gathered their evidence, the three men came to St. Louis and swore to affidavits before the United States Commissioner, thus bringing Noedel to trial.

Noedel's attorneys made bold to tell the jury just what was what the "wrong side of the street."

Berlin, April 1.—Observers of German aviation developments are picturing a time when the "air train" will be an accomplished fact. The "locomotive" will be a powerful airplane and the "passenger" a row of gliders coupled to the "locomotive" and to each other, as the cars of a train, only with considerably greater space between the units.

Passengers in each glider will be, destined for some particular town, and as the airship of each town is approached the glider for that destination will be released from the end of the string and descend, with its special pilot and its passengers.

At a recent experiment at the Karlsruhe flying harbor a glider was hitched to an airplane by a wire cable. It took the air as a "powered" airplane and the "passenger" glider was released. The glider's pilot then cut his machine loose and guided it successfully to a landing.

AUTO LICENSE ROUND-UP

Arrests of motorists who have failed to obtain city and State automobile licenses for 1927, will be started tomorrow by all municipalities in St. Louis County, with the exception of University City. Arrests will be made there after April 7.

Noedel's attorneys made bold to tell the jury just what was what the "wrong side of the street."

At Crystal City, 40 miles south of St. Louis, there was a landslide which blocked the Frisco tracks and made it necessary to detour trains. On the M.-K.-T. there were landslides at Defiance, Case and Marthaville. The only delays on the Katy were to freight trains, the slides being cleared away before the passenger trains.

DEFICIT OF $185,000,000 IN BRITAIN'S 1926 BUDGET

Winston Churchill Had Forecast Surplus of $20,545,000; New Taxation Expected.

LONDON, April 1.—When Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill presented the 1926 budget he estimated a surplus of £4,109,000 ($20,545,000), but he finds himself faced instead with a deficit of nearly £137,000,000 ($185,000,000). The year before last there was a deficit of more than £14,000,000. Thus in the two years of his Chancellorship the country has fallen behind more than £150,000,000.

Owing to the general and coal strikes, 1926 was an abnormal year. This it is contended, was the main cause of the present deficit, but there also has been an unexpected drop in revenue from several sources, notably the income tax. This was £20,000,000 below the estimate, while the excise tax produced £8,300,000 less than was expected. In addition to these there were several minor disappointments, and concurrently expenditure was increased considerably, the higher charge for interest on the national debt alone having absorbed £14,500,000 more than expected.

It is taken for granted that Churchill, when he presents the new budget on April 11, will propose fresh taxation, and it is expected also that he will raise the sinking fund.

WEATHER CLOCK ON TOUR

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch. LONDON, March 31.—A clock that is worked by the weather—seemingly the nearest approach to the secret of perpetual motion—is being taken on a tour through Europe to determine how the varying climatic conditions affect it. A difference of two degrees is sufficient to insure perfect regularity.

The clock winds itself and can run indefinitely without stopping. The remarkable timepiece is the invention of a Zurich clock-maker.

about the case, as the "real folks" of Berger saw it. They intimated that before the trial was over it would be shown that the "better element" or "snobs" of the town had "framed" Noedel. It was a factional fight, they said.

The defendant took the stand, a solemn man, and said that Bill Pope came into his place with a half pint of liquor in his pocket. He said: "I took a little drink, not caring for it, and I said, 'Take out of here. I don't want liquor around.' Then Pope bought some tobacco and went out and the next thing I knew they had me arrested."

There are reports among the Berger townsmen in the courtroom today that Noedel's attorneys will show that Schaffner worked to get evidence against Noedel because Wes took $1500 which he had on deposit in Schaffner's bank and put it in the newer People's Bank "on tell the jury just what was what the wrong side of the street."

SLICED DRIVE HOOKS NINE PERSONS HURT BY AUTOS DURING STORM

S. S. Kohn Wants $500 for Russell McClurken's Divot in Scalp.

The birds chirped in the warm spring breezes as a foursome approached the eighteenth tee on the Forest Park golf course, May 11, 1925. James Egli, No. 1 player, teed his ball, swung, and watched it come to rest far down the fairway. No. 2 player, Russell McClurken, prepared to drive. A powerful swing, but the ball hooked toward the woods.

S. S. Kohn, No. 3 player, stepped forward as McClurken realized his powerful drive was going into the woods. Another crack! Another slice, but this time from Kohn's scalp.

The foursome held a reunion yesterday in Justice of the Peace Moore's court, where Kohn is suing McClurken for $500 damages for personal injuries suffered, when the defendant, "in anger, and carelessly and negligently, without reasonable care," swung the club that hit Kohn and gave him a concussion of the brain. All, including Frank Cahill, No. 4 player, were present to testify about the two slices.

Kohn testified that a swing from McClurken's driver had felled him when McClurken wrathfully swung a second time after perceiving his ball was about to hook. He said that McClurken ran from the tee to follow the flight of the ball. The defendant declared he had not moved the club from his shoulder after "following through" his shot. Kohn must have run into the club, he testified.

Neither of the other players could tell how the accident occurred. The plaintiff's attorney maintained that Kohn could not have injured his head seriously by running into the club. Defendant's counsel contended that if McClurken had hit Kohn in anger he would have crushed his skull instead of merely giving him a concussion. Justice Moore will decide Monday whether the two slices were made in two strokes or one.

Both Kohn and McClurken are salesmen, the former living at 5350 De Giverville avenue and the latter at 4227 Washington boulevard.

Others injured in accidents last night were: Clarence Townsend, 18, of 1411 Barker street, fractured pelvis; Michael McDonnell, 42, 107 North Sixth street, fractured skull; William J. Doak, 29, 2609 Park avenue, body bruises; Ben Fears, 17, Negro, 2408 Clark avenue; May Martin, 18, Negro, 2322A Eugenia street, and Mrs. Daisy Hall, 21, Negro, 2805 Stoddard street, body bruises.

WIFE SAYS SHE KNEW OF ILLEGITIMATE CHILD

But She Continued to Live With Stanley Y. Beach, She Testifies.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, April 1.—Stanley Y. Beach, wealthy head of an engineering company, yesterday lost his fight to establish New York as his legal place of residence. Supreme Court Justice Peters declaring him to be a resident of Stratford, Conn. Beach sought to establish a New York residence because in Connecticut a son has had him adjudged incompetent and a conservator has been appointed for him there.

His wife, Mrs. Helen Birdseye Beach of Stratford, on the stand, said she knew and had known of an illegitimate child of her husband, but added that she "was not interested in the child's welfare or its whereabouts. The child now is an 18-year-old girl, Winifred Watson, and she lives with her mother, Mrs. C. Watson, and her father, Beach, known to friends of Mrs. Watson as her husband, at 117 East Twenty-seventh street, New York.

"Did you know of the existence of Winifred?" the court asked Mrs. Beach.

Knew When Child Was Born.

"Yes, I learned of it the day she was born. A year later I went to visit the baby and was introduced to her mother. But I still considered Mr. Beach my husband. I had known of his affair with Mrs. Watson almost since it started, but I was interested only in the welfare of my own three children, and Mr. Beach and I continued our marital relations until two years ago when he was declared an incompetent in the Connecticut courts and lost control of the income from his trust funds." Frederick C. Beach, a son, refused to acknowledge the girl as a daughter of his father. He said he learned of her existence in 1925 when his father introduced him to her. Advice he gave his father, after being admitted to the bar in 1923, was given supposedly for a friend of his father, and as "from son to father, not as lawyer to client," the son said. He advised his father on a set of facts pertaining to an illegitimate daughter of a "friend." "I did not know the facts pertained to my father," the boy said.

Antagonism toward his father was shown in the testimony of Alfred B. Beach, another son, who lives with his mother.

Justice Peters, at the close of the hearing, said: "The laws of New York do not recognize any such residence as he (Beach) established in Twenty-seventh street, because he established it for illegal and illegitimate purposes."

WOOD UPHOLD IN ABOLISHING PHILIPPINE CONTROL BOARD

Insular Supreme Court Sustains Governor-General in Charge of Government Corporations.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, P. I., April 1.—Governor-General Wood's action in abolishing the Philippine Board of Control through which the several Government-owned corporations in the Philippine Islands were controlled, was upheld today by the Insular Supreme Court. The decision puts Wood in direct control of $50,000,000 in Government property. It was indicated that the decision would be appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

Wood some months ago abolished the Board of Control on the ground that it was illegal in that its membership, being made up of two members of the Insular Senate and Wood, enabled the legislative branch of the Government to usurp powers given exclusively to the administrative branch as represented by the Governor-General. The two members of the Board of Control, besides Wood, were Manuel Quizon and Manuel Roxas, Filipino leaders, both of whom are opposed to the Wood's policies.

RAILWAYS TO APPEAL FROM VALUATION ORDER BY THE I. C. C.

The difference of ten billion dollars in valuation.
The railroad's contention in the valuation dispute is that the base for rate-making purposes should be the present, or, in other words, the replacement value of the property. The railroads hark back to the famous Smith vs. Ames decision in the United States Supreme Court 25 years ago.

This decision is always cited as a guide by courts upholding the replacement value theory. It has resulted in a great deal of confusion of thought.
As Mr. Justice Brandeis has pointed out, the Smith vs. Ames decision does not lay down replacement cost as the sole test in the determination of value and Commissioner Eastman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in his concurrence in yesterday's finding, says that the definition attempted in Smith vs. Ames was "a mere enumeration of matters for consideration to be given such weight as may be just and right in each case."

A Two-edged Theory.
"Some of the matters enumerated in Smith vs. Ames," says Commissioner Eastman, "are today given weight by nobody, and the cost of reproduction would cast into the discard even that matter which in that decision was placed in the forefront, namely, 'original cost of construction.'"

It has also been pointed out by the students of the problem that the cost of production theory is apt to prove a two-edged sword. The theory works to the advantage of the railroads on a rising scale of construction prices. It would work the other way if a valuation base should be determined upon costs that had decreased since the original construction.

Commissioner Eastman puts the confusion of thought in a nutshell when he says that "the Supreme Court has not yet reached firm ground" in dealing with the valuation question. He instances the fact that Mr. Justice Brandeis, while advocating in a separate opinion in the Southwestern Bell case the adoption of the prudent investment theory, was yet able to concur in the result reached in that case by the majority, and that Mr. Justice Holmes, who agreed with Mr. Justice Brandeis in that case, was able to concur in the result reached in the Indianapolis Water Co. case.

The Brandeis View of It.
The Brandeis theory as enunciated in the telephone case is that "capital honestly and prudently invested" in an enterprise should be taken at the base for the computation of railroad rates, and that the percentage to be earned on this base should be measured by the cost, overcharge, of the capital employed. He holds that a public utility corporation should not be allowed a return "upon unearned investment and upon the cost of property rendered valueless by obsolescence."

This was the theory stressed by the late Senator La Follette in all his many fights over railroad valuation in Congress. It formed a part of his presidential campaign platform and was embodied in an amendment which he sought to have added to the Esch-Cummins transportation act. La Follette endeavored, as he said, to "outlaw for rate-making purposes the inflated and fraudulent claims of all railroads."

Between his valuation and that claimed by the railroads, there was a difference, La Follette said, of several hundred million dollars a year in the amount of freight charges that must be paid by the American people, and four or five times that much in their cost of living.

Physical Valuation Under Way.
The Interstate Commerce Commission is still at work on a physical valuation of the railroads ordered by Congress in 1913. In its decision of yesterday, the commission overturned the railroad contention that a valuation for recapture purposes under the transportation act should not be made in advance of the final valuation.

The commission held that for purposes of proceedings under the recapture clause, it was warranted in making a tentative valuation, based on the 1914 level of prices and including the cost of additions made since that time.

The recapture clause of the

STUBBORN, UN- SIGHTLY PIMPLES ON FACE AND BACK

Skin now clear and smooth

Doubs, Md., July 13.—"Three or four years ago, my face and back broke out with pimples and blackheads. When I picked or pressed them they would get very sore and burn. I used several kinds of cold cream, but none of them helped a bit. Then I happened to see your advertisement and thought I would try Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. Within a few weeks I had not a pimple or blackhead at all and now my face is nice and smooth. I have also found Resinol Soap very refreshing after coming in out of the sun or wind." RAILWAYS TO APPEAL FROM VALUATION ORDER BY THE I. C. C.

transportation act is that which provides that a railroad shall pay to the Government one-half of its earnings in excess of 6 per cent income on the value of its property. Obviously, the amount that the Government may recapture in any given case depends on the value fixed on the property.

The decision of the commission in a general way follows the recommendations made in a proposed report of the commission's bureau of valuation, published a year ago, Norris Praises Decision.

Senator George W. Norris, Independent Republican, of Nebraska, chairman of the National Conference on Valuation of American Railroads, made the following statement:

"The decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission handed down yesterday in the St. Louis & O'Fallon Railway case is the most important decision ever made by the commission. It involves not only billions of dollars, but also determines the principles which will control the valuation for rate making purposes of all kinds of public utilities.

"It is the initial decision in one of the greatest legal proceedings in history. This case will undoubtedly be carried to the United States Supreme Court, but the Interstate Commerce Commission has rendered a great public service in rejecting the expensive claims of the railroads.

"The railroad claims for a valuation of $11,000,000,000 or more in excess of a fair valuation were properly rejected by the commission. If these claims had been granted, it would have meant an increase of at least $600,000,000 a year in freight and passenger rates, which would have imposed a destructive burden upon business and agriculture as well as the consuming public.

"In the arguments in this case in July, 1926, on behalf of the Chicago and Great Lakes Railway for the National Conference on Railroad Valuation provided the principal brief and argument in support of the tentative report of the commission."

Urges Support For Commission.

"This decision, therefore, constitutes a splendid victory for the forces presented in the National Conference on Railroad Valuation. This conference was organized in Chicago in May, 1923, at the instance of the late Senate La Follette and was participated in by a large number of Senators, Members of Congress, Governors and representatives of labor and farm organizations."

"This decision is of vast importance to farmers, shippers, wage-earners and consumers. Excessive transportation charges based upon the inflated valuations sought by the railroads would paralyze the productive activities of the nation and bring upon all the people the suffering now experienced by agriculture."

"The railroads will unquestionably attack this decision in the courts. It therefore, behooves the farmers, wage earners, commercial travelers, shippers and all other dependent upon reasonable rates for their prosperity to join hands and sustain the commission."

The majority opinion was written by Commissioner Meyer. He was supported by a supplemental opinion written by Commissioner Eastman, concurred in by Commissioner McManamy. The others concurring in the majority opinion are Commissioners Lewis, Esch and Campbell. The four dissenting commissioners are Hall, Atchison, Woodcock and Taylor, each of whom rendered a comparatively brief opinion. The findings of the commission fill 69 pages of closely printed type.

TESTS IN SHEEP BREEDING
Edinburgh University Traces Inheritance of Fleece Characters.
By the Associated Press.
EDINBURGH, April 1.—Dr. F. A. E. Crew, director of the bureau extensive investigations into the

of animal breeding research at Edinburgh University, who became known for his experiments in changing the sex of fowls, says the ideal sheep is bred more than a possibility. The department has in progress nature of the various kinds of fleece, and the way in which fleece and mutton characters are inherited. The investigators also are well on the way to perfect certain desirable about pigs which are raised for bacon.

commerce act which concerns the creating of a general railroad contingent fund made up of excess earnings of the better paying roads. This contingent fund shall be used, according to the 1920 act, to insure adequate dividends for the less profitable roads.

Must Pay $226,000.
As a result of the commission's decision, the O'Fallon company has been ordered to pay $226,880.66 into the fund within 90 days. The O'Fallon road is owned by the Adolphus Busch estate.

The case before the commission primarily was whether or not the profits of the O'Fallon company could be used for the benefit of the "Master Road," Railroad Co., also a Busch property. A collateral local issue to be settled was whether or not the extra payments made to August A. Busch, principal owner of the two lines, and to William Carter, their president, were excessive. If the commission had settled these two points in favor of the Busch lines, there would have been no excess profits from the O'Fallon line for use in the general contingent fund authorized by the 1920 act.

Four Questions Settled.
According to Commissioner Eastman's supplemental opinion, the decision settled four fundamental questions which apply to all American railroads. These were:
1. The propriety of the proceedings, that is, whether the commission was taking the right course in ascertaining the valuation of the railroads in question and at large.
2. Whether common ownership and direction of two or more railroads constituted a system.
3. The proper distribution of excess net profits.
4. Property values and the amounts of income subject to recapture for the contingent fund.

In answer to these questions the majority opinion held that the proceeding in the O'Fallon case was pursuant to the instructions of Congress to create a general contingent fund; that a system is something complete in itself. Each part completing the other parts and that there must be a unity of purpose in control, management and operation to constitute the two roads "a group of carriers," that the purposes of the 1920 act may not be defeated by the distribution of excess profits under the guise of operating expenses, and finally that the O'Fallon company should pay $226,880.66 into the general contingent fund as excess earnings subject to recapture. This figure was reached by the commission's placing its own valuation of the railroad.

Basis of Valuation.
To ascertain this valuation the commission used the value of the road's equipment as of 1914 and added the actual investments made since that date.

The railroads insisted that their property was worth what it would cost to replace their equipment at prices existing during the recapture period, namely, June 20, 1918, and the end of the calendar years 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1924. The only concession the commission made to the railroads' claims was to allow existing market values for the real estate the railroads owned. This happened to be $50,500 in the O'Fallon case.

National railroad companies supported the Busch line with attorneys, lawyers, Liberal organizations, interested in low freight rates, aided the Government. The attorneys for the carriers were Edgar E. Clark, a former chairman of the commission; P. E. Brown and P. G. Doerty and Fletcher Rockwood of the Great Northern Railroad Co.; Donald Richberg and Herman L. Ekern, former Attorney-General of Wisconsin, appeared for the national conference on valuation of American railroads, and John E. Benton represented the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners. Others in the case as amici curiae were W. G. Brantley, Leslie Craven, Fred H. Wood and Robert H. Kelly.

WORLD'S WORST SLAVE MARKET ABANDONED ON BRITAIN'S PLEA

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

GENEVA, April 1.—The most terrible slave market in the world, the Kalat district in Baluchistan, India, has undergone such a reform in the last few months that now, not even marriage sales are allowed, the League of Nations has been officially notified.

Co-operation of the Indian Government with the Kahn of Kalat brought about the change. Tribesmen of Kalat owned men servants and maid servants with almost the power of life and death. They could throw their slaves into the streets foodless and naked to shift for themselves, but could reclaim them at any time, along with a portion that were born in the meantime.

Several tribes refused to surrender the practice, which had become the equivalent of a religious rite, until late November the Khan was won over by the British. He issued a sweeping edict freeing the slaves without compensation for their masters, and prohibiting the sale, trade or inheritance of slaves. Despite some disorder, the evil has been almost stamped out.

NORRIS TO ENTER NEBRASKA RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Announces He Will Not Seek Re-Election to Senate—Plans State Government Reform.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Norris (Rep.), Nebraska, announced today that he planned to retire from the Senate at the expiration of his present term.

The Nebraska Senator, who has held public office for the last 30 years, said he chose to round out his life in the service of his State and plans to announce as a candidate for Governor when his senatorial term ends in March, 1931. He said he had planned to leave the Senate in 1924 but had changed his mind at the insistence of friends that he serve another term. He hoped, if elected Governor, to make the government of his State a model for others.

Among other things, he said he would seek to put the administration of public affairs in Nebraska on a business basis free from political considerations. He would strive to have the State Constitution amended to provide for one legislative chamber of not more than 25 members elected on a nonpartisan basis, would work for the elimination of a large percentage of State officials, and as an advocate of Government operation of public works, would turn his attention toward having the State develop its own electric power for distribution at cost.

Although classed as a Republican, he frequently has been at odds with the regular party organization in the Senate and for years has had no voice in Federal patronage for Nebraska. He is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and formerly was head of the Agriculture Committee. He has had a prominent part in the fight over Muscle Shoals, advocating Government operation of that property.

PEVELY DAIRY CO. BUYS JERSEY COMPANY'S BUSINESS

Takes Over Milk Routes and Ice Cream Plant Through Private Transaction.

The Pevely Dairy Co. today took over the entire business of the Jersey Dairy Co. by direct purchase. Officers of the two companies declined to announce the price. The Jersey company had 60 milk wagon routes, which will be added to about 320 of the Pevely Co. The entire business will be managed from the Pevely main office, Grand boulevard and Chouteau avenue.

Ice cream will be manufactured by Pevely in the Jersey plant, 1077 Russell boulevard. Frank R. Wolken, who died in 1918, founded the Jersey Company in 1893, with one wagon, which he drove himself. Since his death his widow, Mrs. Helen A. Wolken, of 2161 Russell boulevard, has been president of the company and others principally interested were her father, John Klodt, vice president, and her son-in-law, A. L. Ottennd, secretary, treasurer and general manager, who will manage the new ice cream plant. Daniel C. Kerechhoff is president of Pevely.

DESCRIBES PROGRESS OF NEGROES IN U. S.

Public Opinion of Race Needs
Revision, Lloyd Garrison Tells Urban League.

Public opinion of the Negro, in the light of the latter's recent accomplishments, must undergo a marked revision, Lloyd Garrison, one of the white officers of the National Urban League, said last night in an address before the league's annual conference at Sheldon Memorial, 2646 Washington boulevard, Garrison, a Harvard graduate, and great-grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, the abolitionist, is treasurer of the league. He makes his living practicing law in New York.

Although the present generation of Negroes is but the third since slavery, Garrison said, more than 700,000 own their own homes. Negroes operate 73 banks in this country, with assets of $100,000,000, he said, and control several large insurance companies. Negro newspapers and periodicals have a weekly circulation of 2,000,000, he declared.

Commenting on the intellectual advance of the Negro, Garrison mentioned composers, ballet writers, poets and novelists, and said there are 10,000 Negro college graduates in America, and that the number of undergraduates now in colleges is seven times larger than five years ago. He said that a small group of Negroes from a junior college in North Carolina were split up and sent to four Eastern universities. One of the group led his class at each of the larger universities, which were Williams, Harvard, Pennsylvania and Yale, Garrison said.

Makes Plea for Tolerance.

"It seems that in the light of these accomplishments," Garrison said, "and of the extraordinary progress that the Negro, in spite of his own handicaps and the restrictions laid upon him, has made in the last generation, a revision of the ordinary conception of his capacity and nature must be made." "That conception has been handed down from slavery and it simply does not fit the facts as we know them today. It seems to me that every intelligent and fair-minded person owes it to himself and to his country, if not to the Negro, to re-examine his own conception, to try to learn, through personal contact and by reading, what the Negro is thinking and doing, and what sort of people Negroes really are and have it in them to be." "If our public-spirited people will do this and will spread to others the truth as they have learned it, we shall have gone a long way toward creating that spirit of mutual understanding and tolerance without which the problems of race adjustments will never be solved."

Studied Race in Africa.

Prof. Ellsworth Park, head of the department of sociology at Chicago University, spoke at the afternoon session on studies he made in Africa among the Bantus. He said the Negro showed wide divergence from the original type. The American Negro, he said, is religious, inclined to humility, and would not be classed as pugnacious. The Bantus, he said, are non-religious, markedly independent and warlike. He took issue with Herbert Spencer, who said the African Negro could not grasp an abstract noun, and declared that the Bantus, in describing a beautiful woman or a strong man, used the abstract noun for strength and for beauty, respectively. Instead of the adjective.

Eugene K. Jones, Negro executive secretary for the Urban League, said in his annual report, read at the afternoon session, that the league had expanded in 1926 more than in any previous year, and had planned an ambitious program for 1927 and 1928. The league raised and expended $400,000 throughout the United States for its work in 1926.

The conference will close following meetings today at the People's Building, Jefferson avenue and Market street.

LOSE $4,141,677 TAX SUIT

Heirs of Mrs. J. J. Hill Forced to Pay Inheritance Levy.

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., April 1.—Heirs of the late Mary T. Hill, widow of James J. Hill, have lost their suit to recover $4,141,677 in inheritance taxes paid the Federal Government since 1922. Federal Judge Molyneux held Mrs. Hill expected her death in creating 20 individual trust funds for her beneficiaries. The court granted the heirs $9508, with interest at 6 per cent from May 5, 1925, as an overcharge in determining the expense of administering the estate.

Argument in the suit was on the question of whether Mrs. Hill contemplated death when she established trust funds for her nine children, five grandchildren, four charitable institutions and two other beneficiaries. She died in 1921.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

BANK STOCKHOLDERS MUST REPAY LOSSES

Jerseyville Men Liable for $50,000 Shortage of Cashier Who Ended Life.

Under the provision of the Federal banking law which holds stockholders liable to creditors of a bank for the face value of stock
they own, the 30 or more stockholders of the defunct National Bank of Jerseyville, Ill., have been called on to pay their full liability, $50,000, by April 25.

Notices have been sent out by J.
W. McIntosh, the Comptroller of Currency at Washington, and the stockholders have been given two alternatives—either to pay the par value of their shares on April 25, or deposit collateral and pay the amount in four installments over three months.

It will be impossible to collect the entire $50,000, inasmuch as the largest stockholder, with 77 shares,
was the cashier, Frank D. Heller, who killed himself Jan. 5, when exposure of his irregularities in the conduct of the bank became imminent.

The second largest stockholding is that of A. H. Cochran, president of the bank, who holds 60 shares,
and the third, Edward Nelson,
vice president, who has 19 shares.

PHILLIPS CONFIRMED BY SENATE, 32 TO 2

Opposition to Head of Compensation Commission Collapses in Executive Session.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 1.—Opposition to the confirmation of Alroy S. Phillips of St. Louis as chairman of Workmen's Compensation Commission, which was so strong Wednesday that the Senate Committee on Judiciary reported the nomination to the Senate without recommendation, collapsed when the Senators went into executive session yesterday afternoon and Phillips was confirmed with only two dissenting votes.

Usually a nomination reported without recommendation is rejected, but even before the report was made Senators on the committee had said that in face of the showing there was a virtual certainty that Phillips would be rejected.

The showing principally was that Phillips had delivered a speech before the Kansas City Bar Association in which he had said there was no place under the operation of the compensation law for a lawyer, and that there was no reason for a claimant for compensation to employ a lawyer, and that the commission would use every effort to prevent lawyers from participating by the fee route in the compensation awards. This had angered many attorneys especially a group in Kansas City, who brought pressure to bear on the lawyers in the Senate to punish Phillips by rejecting him.

As a majority of the Senators are lawyers the campaign was making considerable headway until one of them raised the question of the criticism which might result from a rejection of an appointee because of professional pique over a speech he had delivered.

By the time the nomination came up in the executive session there were few Senators who cared to oppose Phillips. Senators Casey of Kansas City and Buford of Ellington cast the dissenting votes. Orrin S. Shaw of Jefferson City and Evert Richardson of Granby, the other members of the Compensation Commission, were confirmed without objection as almost former Senator William M. Bowker of Nevada, Democrat, as a member of the Board of Eleemosynary Institutions, who succeeds Frank Farlow of Webb City, who died Sunday.

DRIVER AWAITING TRIAL KILLED

The case against William Harkins, 23 years old, of 1806 Arsenal street, charged with driving an automobile when intoxicated, was dismissed by Police Judge Roscan this morning after Associate City Counselor Hackmann informed the court that Harkins was killed two days ago, when his motorcycle collided with an automobile.

Harkins was arrested March 14, at Broadway and Eller street, where he had driven his automobile into a rock pile. The second accident in which he was involved, at Twelfth and Hickory streets, resulted in fatal injuries. Charles Stillwell, 21, of 817 Allen avenue, who drove the automobile that struck Harkins' motorcycle, was arrested for criminal carelessness.

Active men need crippling pain

"HAD TO BE CARRIED LIKE A BABY"

Quickly put on feet again by simple home treatment

Laid up for two weeks with an attack of rheumatism or neuritis in the legs, a Canadian writes all the way from Moncton, N. B., to tell of the quick relief he got when he began using a simple, old-fashioned home remedy. "I could not walk for two weeks," he writes. "I had to be carried around like a baby. But one bottle of Sloan's Liniment put me on my feet again."

Sloan's gives real help to all kinds of muscular pain because it stirs up your body's own curative forces to drive out the germs and poisons that cause the trouble. Just put it on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood is sent tingling through the pain-ridden tissues. No rubbing! It's the medicine itself that does the work.

Soon the swelling and inflammation go down. The aching stops. Almost suddenly you find yourself really free from pain, really comfortable at last. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

GRAND JURY DEMANDS CURB ON NOTARIES

Grant Case Brings Call for Regulations—Police Praised for Crime Reduction.

The February grand jury, in its final report to Circuit Judge Pearey today, praised the Police Department, crediting it with reducing the number of holdups and serious automobile accidents, and called for greater care in granting notary public commissions. Notaries, the grand jury said, should be required to retain records of all acknowledgments and affidavits. This recommendation resulted from the experience of the grand jury in investigating irregular dealings of Edward W. Grant, secretary-treasurer of the collapsed Wagner-Grant-Bell Realty Co., who is under several indictments. In some cases involving Grant's deals, evidence for an indictment was lacking, because notaries had failed to record acknowledgments.

Conditions at City Jail, Workhouse and a number of other city institutions were commended, and the need of a hospital ward, laundry and stock barn at the St. Louis Training School, the institution for the feeble-minded, was set forth. The police, it was stated, showed celerity in cases which came to the grand jury's attention and improvement in crime and accident conditions was declared due to the greater activity of the police. Paul Conrades was foreman of the grand jury, which heard 187 witnesses, and returned 38 true bills, finding four non-true bills.

A Better Gasoline—At No Advance in Price!

Again—Shell leads the way—offering the motoring public a better gasoline than has been heretofore offered at the regular price.

It's your old favorite—Shell Gasoline—brought to a higher point of power and perfection by lowering the "end point" to 400°. Those who know the process of refining gasoline will appreciate the tremendous importance of this announcement.

Only the most volatile elements—the very cream of the crude—come to you in Shell Gasoline. Obviously by this process, Shell costs more to produce, as less gasoline is obtained per gallon of crude—but the price to you remains the same.

Due to the low "end point", Shell Gasoline is of higher quality—has vastly increased power—gives easier and quicker starting. It is "extra dry"—unusually free from heavy elements—therefore burns cleanly with less crankcase dilution.

Put Shell to the test. Drive to any of the stations where Shell is sold. Fill the tank with this wonder gasoline. Then watch the improved performance of your car—how instantly it starts—how quickly it responds—how quietly it speeds along the road—how smoothly it takes the hills in high.

A single trial will convince you, once and for all, that 400 "Extra Dry" Shell is unquestionably the greatest gasoline value on the market.

Any Yellow-Red Shell Service Station or any Shell dealer is ready to supply you with this NEW Shell Gasoline at the regular price—not one cent extra for the extra quality it contains or the extra service it will render.

The old way (437° End Point)—the one in general use—takes the gasoline from the crude with part of the heavier and less volatile elements.

The SHELL way (400° End Point) takes only the cream of the crude—producing a higher gravity gasoline—extra dry, clean-burning and wonderfully powerful and effective.

NEW ALCOHOL DENATURANT

Government Orders Use of Alcohol.

Nauseating but Not Poisonous.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Compulsory use of an alcohol denaturant begins today in all plants denaturing alcohol under Treasury Department ruling.

The denaturant, which has an offensive odor, but is nonpoisonous, has been in use since Jan. 1. It is an oxydized kerosene and is used instead of pyridine, which was considered poisonous. Chemists of the prohibition unit still are seeking a more effective denaturant, which cannot be distilled out by illicit liquor dealers, although the belief is expressed that alcohol will be effective.

The formula now used for denaturing commercial alcohol includes three-fourths of one per cent alcohol, 4 per cent wood alcohol and one-half of one per cent kerosene. This is described as sufficient to nauseate but not to poison anyone using it for beverage purposes.

TEXAS GOVERNOR SIGNS FERGUSON AMNESTY REPEAL

Action Leaves Former Executive's Status as Potential Office Holder Uncertain.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 1.—Repeal of the amnesty bill which restored political rights to James E. Ferguson, former Governor, who was impeached in 1917, leaves his status as a potential office holder uncertain.

Lack of a court ruling on the constitutionality of the measure caused Gov. Moody to express doubt as to the effect of the repeal when he signed the bill yesterday.

Gov. Moody reiterated views announced when he was Attorney-General, that the amnesty bill was unconstitutional. If the bill were constitutional, he declared he did not believe it could be repealed because it would confer rights which are vested and which no repeal act could affect.

Ferguson's friends said that even if the former Governor were barred from holding State offices, he could hold national offices. This would permit him to become a candidate for United States Senator in 1928. Ferguson indicated he would content himself for the present with senatorial campaign plans.

Repeal of the amnesty measure ended a long series of political maneuvers which brought the youthful Moody to leadership of the State Democratic party. His first break with the Fergusons came when Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson signed the bill intended to restore her husband's rights shortly after her inauguration in 1925. The bill applied to all impeached Texas officeholders, and did not mention Ferguson.

SAY YELLOW PRESS LEADS MEN TO CRIME

New York Committee Attacks
"Glorification" of Criminals
by Tabloids and Others.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 1.—The "glorification" manner of handling crime news by the so-called "yellow" press, together with the advent of tabloid newspapers and "art" magazines, have done much to contribute to crime, says the New York State Crime Commission Subcommittee. In a report entitled "The Relation of the Daily Press to Crime and the Administration of Justice," the subcommittee says:

"The danger of suggestion, while its results have always been realized, is rendered much more acute by the coming of the tabloid newspaper, which reaches a strata of population which never read newspapers in former generations. The power is great, especially where persons of subnormal intelligence are concerned. Accounts they read of crime impress them to a greater extent than their more intelligent brothers and the flood of crime news which flows from the modern press gives sinister inclinations to minds that would otherwise be occupied with very harmless interests."

Nicknames Are Attacked.

The application of "attractive nicknames and phrases" to certain criminals such as the "Bobbed-hair Bandit" and "The Master Bandit" is one of the "romantic suggestion phrases" the report attacks.

The so-called "art" magazines as "definite factors in causing crime" were found by the subcommittee to be sold extensively to school children and "others of an impressionable nature." The report says that to test the effect of "colored" crime narratives upon newspaper readers, two men were employed to board subway trains in various parts of New York and select readers at random.

Pool of Readers Taken.
Of 50 readers of a certain tabloid, 88 per cent expressed the opinion that the accused was guilty, 6 per cent felt the accused not guilty and 6 per cent were doubtful. Compared with 14 readers of an old established conservative newspaper, the investigation showed 7 per cent thought the accused guilty, 35 per cent expressed the belief of innocence and 58 per cent expressed doubt. Of 24 readers of another conservative newspaper, 33 per cent felt the accused was guilty, 42 per cent thought him innocent and 25 per cent were doubtful. In connection with these figures, it was pointed out that one conservative newspaper carried more than three times the number of words in the particular trial in question than the tabloid mentioned.

"It is unquestionably a public menace for newspapers to present the detail which they now print regarding crimes and divorces," says the report, which ends with the conclusion that "newspaper censorship, although undesirable, is not the worst of evils."

MACMILLAN TO LEAD NEW ARCTIC EXPEDITION IN JUNE
Plans to Spend 15 Months Seeking Race Still Living in Primitive State.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 1.—Setting sail from Wisconsin, Me., next June, Commander Donald B. MacMillan will lead a new expedition into the Far North to spend 15 months exploring and studying uncharted Arctic wastes, the Field Museum of Natural History, sponsoring the expedition, announces.

MacMillan's party will include a group of scientists and authorities on many subjects. A race still living in primitive state and virtually unknown to science, except as Naaskapi Indians, will be sought out and studied; the fossil mountains of Baffin land, a region of creatures of evidences of creatures thought to have lived three thousand of years ago, and the remnant of the last great ice sheet which in a past geological age swept down across part of North America, will be explored and studied, as part of the main object of the expedition.

BONDS OF OLD IN COMPANY BID NEARLY DOUB

Group of St. Louis Financial With J. K. Newman, P organizer of New Orleans and Operate th

J. K. Newman of New Orleans, who is a trolley owner of the reorganized United States Trolley Company, has given to the Post a new company which will operate the St. Louis trolley system. He desired, he said, "to lay his card of scrutiny and talked with unhesitating frankness every phase of a situation which is about to be decided today. Federal Judge Farris on the railways which have been in receivership only likely bidders will be the reorganized Newman is manager. After approval of the will resolve itself into the St. Louis Public Utility Company will immediately engage the city at large in a discussion for a new franchise. Simultaneously the public will begin to get in the way of better street car service for that service likely will be. Newman, describing himself as a reorganizer, "and a professional at it," told how St. Louis situation. With apparent art an opportunity to make money by buying a company at a low price and making the securities of the successor company who gave some measure of how much money his profit was much smaller than he had. Newman had dragged on longer than he would compromise on $60,000. He discussed what he considered the new company should be. He told what he pay towards the public would be. He quickly inserted "If we get a new franchise. And in this connection, he significant. We are ready now to compromise $50,000,000 as the sum upon which we earn a fair return from fares; but, indisposed to give us such a franchise, we demand to have our valuation set. cent decisions of the United States have reason to believe that that sum $75,000,000.

The latter figure, of course, would be a street car transportation, if the company is. If service were bettered, fares would remain stationary, service would deteriorate unsatisfactory character. The probability would go up and service would not be met. Newman prefaced his discussion by sketching broadly a colorful background of his 30 years' experience in street railways, beginning with his graduation from college, as an engineer. His father was wealthy, an operator of street railways in New Orleans. The younger Newman proposed that his father permit him to launch upon his career by building a 12-mile street car line into a section of New Orleans thickly populated, but by poor people. The father warned him that poor people likely would not provide very much revenue for the line. Created Successful System. "On the contrary," the son retorted. "Poor people must work, and hence must ride." The line was built. "And," Newman said, "we made it the best street car line in the United States—in roadbed and the character of cars we put into service. They were the best cars we could build. Many are in service today and compare favorably with modern cars. The road was a success from the start. People walked two and three blocks beyond the line of our competitor to ride on our cars." "I learned from that experience," Newman continued, "a principle that I never have abandoned. People will pay for good service. It is just as true, in fairness to the street car owner, that people cannot expect to get more service than they pay for." "Now that is all that our new street car company will ask of the St. Louis public. Tell us what you want in service. We will give that service, but you must pay for it. There is no money to be made in operating street cars. Public regulation allows a bare existence; nothing more. It is a skimmed milk business. People never get fat on skimmed milk. The public says: 'We will allow you to earn 5 per cent; nothing more.' Suppose you say to the shoe manufacturers of St. Louis: 'Tag every pair of shoes you sell. At the end of the year, if you have made more than 5 per cent, then redeem every one of those tags with rebates to bring down the profit to 5 per cent.' Where could you get agreement on that? Nowhere. Yet that is what is required of street railway operators. How Newman Operates. There is only one way to make money in the street car business and that is the way in which I have operated. I may say that I could have made much more, and I would have made much more, if I took the same investment in a Group of St. Louis Financiers Associated With J. K. Newman, Professional Reorganizer of New Orleans, Will Control and Operate the System.

J. K. Newman of New Orleans, who will become one of the controlling owners of the reorganized United Railways when it emerges from receivership, has given to the Post-Dispatch his plans for the new company which will operate the street railways of St. Louis. He desired, he said, "to lay his cards on the table" for public scrutiny and talked with unhesitating frankness. He touched almost every phase of a situation which is about to engross public attention because today Federal Judge Farris ordered public sale of the railways which have been in receivership since April, 1919. The only likely bidder was the reorganization committee of which Newman is manager. After approval of the Court, the committee will resolve itself into the St. Louis Public Service Co., and that company will immediately engage the city administration and the public at large in a discussion for a new franchise.

Simultaneously the public will begin to inquire what it can expect in the way of better street car service and what the street car fare for that service likely will be.

Newman, describing himself as a reorganizer of sick street railways, "and a professional at it," told how and why he came into the St. Louis situation. With apparent artlessness, he said he saw an opportunity to make money by buying up securities of the stricken company at a low price and making them worth much more in the securities of the successor company which would be created. He gave some measure of how much money he has made, adding that his profit was much smaller than he had anticipated because the receivership had dragged on longer than expected.

WOULD COMPROMISE ON $60,000,000 VALUATION.

He discussed what he considered the public attitude toward the new company should be. He told what the attitude of the new company towards the public would be. He promised better service, but quickly inserted "if we get a new franchise."

And in this connection, he significantly and flatly affirmed: "We are ready now to compromise at approximately $60,000,000 as the sum upon which we shall be allowed to earn a fair return from fares; but, if we find the public indisposed to give us such a franchise, we will unhesitatingly adopt the alternate course. We will go to court and there demand to have our valuation set in accordance with recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court. We have reason to believe that that sum will not be less than $75,000,000."

The latter figure, of course, would react very positively upon street car transportation, if the company endeavored to earn upon it. If service were bettered, fares would go much higher. If fares remained stationary, service would deteriorate even from its present unsatisfactory character. The probability would be strong that fares would go up and service would not be much better.

Newman prefaced his discussion by sketching broadly a colorful background of his 30 years' experience in street railways, beginning with his graduation from college as an engineer.

His father was wealthy, an operator of street railways in New Orleans. The younger Newman proposed that his father permit him to launch upon his career by building a 12-mile street car line into a section of New Orleans thickly populated, but by poor people. The father warned him that poor people likely would not provide very much revenue for the line.

Created Successful System. "On the contrary," the son retorted. "Poor people must work, and hence must ride." The line was built. "And," Newman said, "we made it the best street car line in the United States—in roadbed and the character of cars we put into service. They were the best cars we could build. Many are in service today and compare favorably with modern cars. The road was a success from the start. Poor people will pay for good service. It is just as true in fairness to the street car owner, that people cannot expect to get more service than they pay for."

"Now that is all that our new street car company will ask of the St. Louis public. Tell us what you want in service. We will give that service, but you must pay for it. There is no money to be made in operating street cars. Public operation allows a bare existence; nothing more. It is a skimmed milk business. People never get fat on skimmed milk. The public pays. We will allow you to earn 10 per cent; nothing more." Suppose you say to the shoe manufacturer, "I will give you 10 per cent of the shoes you sell. At the end of the year, if you have made more than 10 per cent, then redeem every one of those tags with rebates to bring down the profit to 8 per cent. Where could you get agreement on that? Nowhere. Yet that is what is required of street railway operators."

How Newman Operates. There is only one way to make money in the street car business and that is the way in which I have operated. I may say that I could have made much more, had the same investment, in a

his $428,000 investment would be about $300,000.

Newman bought, in all, between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000 of 4 per cent bonds and $2,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds. However, he resold, he said, all except the amounts he named as held by himself individually, to friends through his banking house, Newman, Saunders & Co. of New Orleans.

Controls Large Block of Stock. This group of friends and associates, whose holdings, he says, he can vote in the new company, hold nearly 20,000 shares of common stock in the new company. With Newman's 6000 shares, this block is the largest held by any group in the new company and makes Newman one of two outstanding men in the new company.

The other is Frank O. Watts, President of the First National Bank in St. Louis. Watts was drawn into investment in "United Railways" securities first as early as 1912 upon the solicitation of friends in St. Louis, who desired a steady hand in its affairs prior to the receivership. He became a heavy investor, chiefly in preferred stock, in 1921, when the North American company made an unsuccessful effort to reorganize the property. Under that plan the preferred stock which then was selling around $10 a share, often would have a potential value of approximately $35 a share and not only Watts but many of his St. Louis friends became investors at that time. Since that investment Watts has been a controlling factor in all reorganization plans.

His present holding is $400,000 of 4 per cent bonds, $195,000 of 5 per cent bonds and 10,058 shares of common stock of the new company.

Watts paid an average of $58 for each $100 par value of 4 per cent bonds, which, Newman estimates, will be worth $85 upon emergence of the company from receivership. The market at 50 or less. For the 5 per cent bonds, which will approach $100 in exchange value, and $24 a share for common stock, which will have a book value under the proposed franchise of possibly $32.

Other St. Louis Investors.

Many other St. Louisians likewise bought the three classes of United Railways securities susceptible of being increased in value by successful reorganization of the company—the 4 per cent bonds, the 5 per cent bonds and the preferred stock.

Among them was C. A. Tilles, always a large holder of the company's securities, but who, instead of getting "cold feet" increased his holdings until he had approximately $2,000,000 par value. He also becomes an important common stock owner in the new company. Tilles, however, recently established a fund for the aid of poor boys, endowing it with $150,000 par value of the 5 per cent bonds.

A list of others, many of them St. Louisians, who are among the largest common stockholders in the new company and who form, with the others heretofore mentioned, working control of the new company, has been given out by the Reorganization Committee as follows, all having 1000 or more shares:

Mark C. Steinberg & Co., holding as brokers for St. Louis clients (not named); Thomas Turnbull, an associate of Newman; Kingman Investment Corporation (E. K. Ladington of St. Louis); Ladensberg Thalman & Co. (New York); Gustav Fischer, Eugene H. Angert, Ira E. Wight, estate of A. J. Siegel, Thomas Dunn, John B. Dowling, Janette Investment Co., (estate of Charles H. Huttig), W. G. Simmons and Leslie Cheek, Virginia Investment Co. (G. W. Simmons), Newburg & Co. (holding as do other corporations for clients), Stix & Co., John P. Newell, Frank K. Houston and Harris Hyman.

Invested at Propitious Times. The St. Louisians who invested speculatively in United Railways securities placed their money at various times, some when the opportunity was most propitious, immediately following the receivership in 1919.

In December, 1920, the total of United Railways securities having a par value of $94,156,000 were quoted upon the market at prices which would aggregate only $20,125,000 for all issues. The 4 per cent bonds, of which there were $30,300,000 outstanding, were quoted at from $42 to $46 for each $100 of par value. The 5 per cent bonds, those of the St. Louis Transit Co., of which there were $9,790,000 outstanding, were quoted at $26 for each $100 of par value.

Preferred stock, of which there was $16,252,000, was quoted under a $10 a share of $100 par value. Common stock, of which there was $24,813,000, was virtually worthless. The North American Co. held nearly $17,000,000 par value of this stock. It had actually paid in excess of $3,000,000 for it. Yet North American wrote off United Railways common on its books at $1. It accepted its loss as total.

It may be said that securities in general, even those regarded as standard, had fallen upon the market under pressure of a general business depression and adjustment in that year. Nor is it

How State Utilities Commission Arrived at $57,500,000 as Value of the United Railways

THE property of the United Railways in service of the public at St. Louis as it stood in 1919, was valued at $57,500,000 by the Missouri Public Service Commission in 1923. This sum was allocated over the protest of the City of St. Louis that the value was not actually in excess of $30,000,000 and that, for purposes of rate-making, no more than $30,000,000 should be allowed. Following are the chief items of the valuation:

INVESTMENT COST, EXCLUSIVE OF LAND

(This was cars, tracks, building, trolley lines, power houses, every stick of property the company owned as determined by an inventory in the field. Its cost was arrived at by using the price paid if the books disclosed it; if not, by average prices over a 13-year period between 1906-1918.)

ADD 50 PER CENT $17,506,710

(This was to represent the cost to rebuild the property entirely new in 1919—to comply with court decisions that reproduction new is a controlling element in finding out the amount of money on which the public must pay a return in fares.)

DEDUCT 30 PER CENT DEPRECIATION 15,756,038

(The property was not as good as new, however. It had been subject to wear and tear. It was an old property badly in need of repair. The commission held that the company had collected in fares enough money to have kept it in repair, and hence that the full amount of depreciation must be deducted.)

$36,764,091

LAND

(Land was put in at its market value, which was much higher than the company had paid for it.)

CONSTRUCTION OVERHEADS

(This sum was equivalent to 15 per cent of the investment cost of the property. It was an estimate purely of what the company had paid when the property was being built for the following items: Law expenditures, engineers' fees, damages and injuries, taxes, interest and omissions and contingencies.)

$ 5,252,013

FRANCHISES

(The commission found that the company actually and properly had expended this sum in getting franchises, required payments by the city.)

208,522

WORKING CAPITAL

(Allowed as the sum of cash needed to conduct the business, plus the amount of materials and supplies that the company habitually kept in stock.)

PROMOTION COST

(Quote the commission: "Costs have no doubt been incurred in connection with the promotion, financing and consolidation of the underlying companies into one system and, although it is impossible to determine the actual amount of such costs, a reasonable allowance must be made to cover them.")

2,700,000

GOING VALUE

(Allowed upon the theory that a public utility, with its business attached and in successful operation, has a greater value than the same property ready to operate, but not operating and with no business attached. Often opposed on the ground that the public grants a utility a monopoly and provides it business the instant it is ready to operate.)

DEDUCT 1,056,762

(Value of property of company which it does not use in service of the public.)

FINAL VALUE

Since 1919, the date of this valuation, the company has expended $6,000,000 or more upon the property, or sufficient to give it a valuation approaching $66,000,000, if the Public Service Commission figure is used as a base.

Commissioner Musser rendered a dissenting opinion in which he declared: "The stock market values do not reflect the amounts allowed under this decision.  It is my opinion that the sponge should be squeezed dry and that no further moisture should be allowed or frozen finance indulged in."

He specifically attacked the $2,700,000 for promotion and $2,500,000 for going value, saying, "Promotion, financing and consolidation  long since have been absorbed and the public should not be again charged or required to pay any return upon those items."

likely that it would have been possible to have purchased the railways for $20,000,000, though its securities were no higher on the market. Any concerned buying would have resulted in agitation of the price upward. In 1921 the North American Co., essaying the effort to reorganize the railways, offered a plan in which the holders of 4 per cent bonds were offered $70 for their bonds which were quoted on the market at $46, yet the offer was rejected.

Thrown Into Receivership. The railways were thrown into receivership by the petition of a bondholder who charged mismanagement and waste. It sought to take out to public understanding the ills from which the company and petition was filed, the company caused a second to be filed, alleging only insolvency, and promptly acknowledged that it was insolvent. After legal jockeying, the friendly petition was substituted for the unfriendly, and the receivership proceeded under the friendly action. The company, meanwhile had suggested two receivers to Federal Judge Dyer, but the Judge, choosing an independent course, named Holla Wells, former Mayor, who had retired from public activity, and who reluctantly accepted the appointment.

Order to Preserve Property.

The general instructions to the Receiver were that he operate the property so as to prevent its disposition by the number of passengers integration into the numerous, small independent companies of "which it had been formed. Disintegration would have destroyed the universal transfer and the ability of car riders to reach their destination upon continuous routes. The receiver was instructed also to preserve the property as best he could for its owners.

It was not a prosperous company. Its revenue was increasing but little each year. On the other hand, operating expenses were increasing sharply. Car riding, as reflected by the number of passengers carried, was not keeping pace with the growth of the city in other respects—in population, in total wealth produced, in any of the ways usually regarded as signifying prosperity and growth. Car riding was slumping in the face of steady growth of the city. The number of passengers carried had been fewer in 1918 than in 1917.

Accordingly, in the first year of his office, the receiver obtained an increase in fare from 6 to 8 cents cash, with tokens at 7 1/2 or 7 1/7 cents dependent upon the quantities in which they were purchased. The added revenue, however, was not in the year, however—November—to prevent another deficit! The receivers receipts lacked $200,000 of the sum required to pay bond interest, operating expenses and depreciation.

Effects of Increased Fare. Soon after the beginning of the new year, 1920, the effect of the increased fare began to be felt fully. The year had progressed no further than April until it became apparent to the receiver that he could support the property upon a lower fare. Accordingly he suggested a reduction to the Public Service Commission, which decreed the 7-cent fare, a rate that, except for short interruptions, has been in effect since. However, the receiver, asserting a new distress, now is applying to the commission for an 8-cent fare, with two tokens for 15 cents.

The year 1920 was the most prosperous in many for the company and the most prosperous of the receivership. The annual statement showed revenue of $1,080,000 in excess of the sum required for operation, depreciation and interest. It may be said here that, over a period of eight years, the receiver has earned, out of the fare box, approximately $2,200,000 in excess of the sums required to pay operation, depreciation and interest. The sum allowed for depreciation and interest. Moreover, the sum allowed for depreciation has proved more than sufficient. Of the money set aside for repairs, there remains unspent about $5,000,000.

In 1922, there occurred one of a chain of events encouraging to those who had speculated in United Railways securities. It was the valuation of the property by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

Rate Value of $70,000,000 Urged. The decision was preceded by lengthy investigation in which the receiver was diligent. He urged that the company be given a rate value of as much as $70,000,000. He set up that estimate upon the valuation theory of reproduction now less depreciation. In recent years a considerable number of utilities, that theory contemplates that, no matter what a property may have cost in money actually invested; no matter what the price at which a willing seller was ready to sell to a willing buyer, as reflected by market quotations of securities, the value of a public utility is the sum required to reproduce its property at prices prevailing at the time the value is being set, with deduction only for depreciation.

The finding of the commission gave weight to that theory. The commission found that the investment cost of the company's property had been $52,838,110, exclusive of land. To this figure it added 50 per cent to represent partially, at least, the cost if reproduced at present prices, bringing the value to $52,838,110. From that figure it subtracted 30 per cent to represent the depreciation that had taken place, reducing the value to $36,764,091.

It then added $2,000,000 as the price the company likely could get for its land, although it had cost appreciably less. The final addition, arriving at the rate-making value, was $38,964,091 for overhead construction costs, the value of the company's franchises, working capital, promotion cost and going value. The final result was a value of $51,781,348 for the property, which the receiver said was a fair value for securities for several years preceding.

Company Seeking 8-Cent Fare Immediately and Eventual 7 Per Cent Return on Valuation

ing had been quoted upon the market for a total of $30,000,000.

Newman Appears on Scene. One of the members of the Public Service Commission, Musser, dissenting from the $52,000,000 figure, declared: "The stock market values do not reflect the amounts allowed under this decision.  In my opinion, the sponge should be squeezed dry."

The decision set a definite figure toward which the various groups of security holders could work in a reorganization plan and soon thereafter, Newman appeared. He had been known to wait for 25 years and Watts knew him as reliable.

Newman's own description of his coming to St. Louis is picturesque. "Here were several groups of security holders, each with their groups of lawyers milling and milling and getting nowhere—like a pack of dogs about a bone. Sometimes a puppy slip in and makes off with the bone. I was the puppy."

He was engaged to be the reorganization manager for the United Railways. Newman rather proudly recites the terms upon which he accepted the employment. It is not unusual with the Mayor, Mayor Miller in January of 1926, announced that he favored reorganizing the railways upon a "service at cost basis." Thereafter Clark and Greenland went into conference with the Mayor, Mayor Miller and the consulting engineer. There emerged from those conferences a definite "service at cost" proposal for St. Louis. The St. Louis Public Service Co., the company that is to operate the street railways when Newman shall have brought them out of receivership, declared itself promptly for the plan in newspaper advertisements.

The basis of the ordinance is that the company whose securities in 1920 were quoted at $30,000,000, shall now be reorganized for 30 years under "service at cost" and that "cost" shall be based upon a valuation of between $55,000,000 and $60,000,000. Under the franchise the speculative investments made when the company's securities were at rock bottom would be realized.

Plea for Franchise. Newman said today that some franchise was absolutely necessary. The 4 per cent bonds of the old company are carried over into the new and will expire in seven years. They must then be refunded. Moreover, the new company will require added capital at once with which to make improvements and betterments of service. Some members of the reorganization committee have mentioned $8,000,000 as the amount of new capital which the company will require.

"The situation is just this," Newman said. "We want to give the citizens of St. Louis good street car service. Our record of operation in other cities shows that we know how to give service. We already have, in plan, many operating changes which we hope will save money and tend to keep fares down. But we cannot make the necessary changes and improvements we cannot but have the care we desire, unless we can get money. We cannot get money without a franchise. The proof of that is the Chicago street railways. There is a property with a valuation set and earning a return upon it—a company that is sound as bankers measure soundness. It has paid dividends for years. But its franchise has expired. The bankers are dead to pleas for more money with which the company wants to extend service."

"We believe we have a sound reorganization for the St. Louis railways. But we need a franchise. The city administration and the reorganizers of the company are generally in agreement upon the terms of the 'service at cost' franchise, which provides for surface transportation only. There is a stipulation that, if the city should build subways, the St. Louis Public Service Co. can operate them if the city so elects."

The chief disagreement now is over the rate of return, and Newman has been in conference with the Mayor on the subject. He wants an allowance of 7 per cent on the $55,000,000 valuation. The Mayor, upon advice of Consulting City Engineer Smith, has been holding out for 6 per cent.

At the last meeting of the two, the Mayor told Newman he would not discuss the matter further until the Public Service Commission has passed upon the present application of the receiver to be permitted to raise fares from 7 cents to 8 cents cash or two tokens for 15 cents. The commission has been awaiting until it could arrive at the value to determine how much the receiver has expended in improvements. It is understood that the audit now is complete and will be submitted to the commission shortly. An early hearing upon the fare increase likely will follow.

Of Making Many Books

Contribution to a Young Art

THE BEADLE. By Pauline Smith. (Doran.)

"THE BEADLE" is one of those fortunate group of books which has shared with "As It Was" by Helen Thomas, the valuable disapproval of certain Boston censors. It is a pity that not all books thus advertised are so distinguished for simple truth and beauty as are the two here named. Censors would be of greater value if they could be depended upon to advertise by their most effective negative method only books of such genuine worth. It would then be possible, for those who may regard human sympathy as the supreme achievement, to choose their reading by the simple process of reversing the decisions of the dogmatically good. But the matter is seriously complicated by the fact that it seems to be the theme that is considered and not the truth or falsity of the treatment.

Thus it happens that when a group of books is publicly condemned as improper, there is a popular scramble for all of them; and so, as usual, the devil is given rather more than an even break with the angels, for it can hardly be otherwise than that the occasional true book in such groups is read by many in a blind spirit of folly.

It is probable that very many have already leafed through "The Beadle," feverishly seeking for offending passages. They may be found by this method. Nevertheless, they are not there; and it is only fair to warn the merely curious that "The Beadle" is a very dull and disappointing book, not in any way worth their time, and not to be classed with the masterpieces of the drooling, giggling key-hole peepers of contemporary literature. It is the work of a sane and far-seeing woman who is evidently old enough, both physically and spiritually, to know what's what.

The scene is laid among the Dutch of South Africa and the theme is similar to that of "The Scarlet Letter." The theme was very old when Hawthorne treated it, and it is now, and shall always be, new wherever the conventional form of goodness is mistaken for the spirit of it and so hardens into a reputable vice.

Into a remote and primitive Dutch settlement in the Aangenaam Valley, South Africa, comes a young English health-seeker. Living with one of the more substantial families of the neighborhood, he comes into intimate contact with Andrina, a gentle, shy and trusting girl who, being an orphan, has come to serve in the house of the saintly Mevrouw Van Der Merwe. Little by little, the reader learns by inference what has been the fate of Andrina's mother, Klara, who, shortly before the birth of her daughter, had been deserted by her husband for reasons unknown to the neighborhood, and who died in childbirth.

It is known that, in some way, the old Beadle, Aalt Volkman, had been concerned with the fate of the mother; but there are only two in the valley, besides himself, who know the truth of the matter, and all three have good conventional reasons for keeping silence. It is when the apparently hard-hearted old Beadle begins to reveal his enmity towards the Englishman and his half-mad interest in the welfare of Andrina that his part in the tragedy of Klara begins to dawn upon the reader. And when that which in the very nature of the circumstances was inevitable has befallen the girl and, deserted and bewitched, she flies with her trouble to a land of strangers, it is then that the Beadle stands forth magnificently in the light of the pitiful truth. There is something about the character of the hard-boiled old fellow at the last that makes one think of Lear and Oedipus.

As for the justification of the book, may not the advantages of vicarious experience be pointed out? And is not literature a means of living vicariously? Also to reveal, as Pauline Smith does, a characteristic tangle of human misunderstandings, together with the pain and pity of it, is to make a valuable contribution to the very young art of living.

Three Books by Christopher Morley. THREE utterly different yet sympathetically related new books from the fecund and felicitous pen of Christopher Morley. One, "The Arrow," is a delicate love story, partaking of the mystic qualities of "Where the Blue Begins," another, "Safety Pins," is a collection of essays, and the third, "Paumanok," is a signed edition, limited to 100 copies, about the perverse spirit "who lives in every poet's heart."

Furthermore, Morley is about to have published "Pleased to Meet You," a romance of "Illyria," and a $125 edition of his collected works. It isn't every year that an American writer can achieve the great popularity of this 37-year-old product of Haverford College, Oxford and journalism, in the diverse fields of essay, short story, verse, play, novel, philosophy and editor.

"The Arrow," published by Doubleday, Page & Co., is most important of the new volumes to the general reader. It tells in allegorical manner, without departing from the settings of an Atlantic liner and London in 1927, how Eros shot his arrows at an American boy and girl in Piccadilly Circus. In "Safety Pins" (Jonathan Cape, London) 44 essays are printed from familiar collections, the little piece coming from "Pipes," the whole forms a good introduction to Morley. Included is "A Message for Bonville," which the author mistakenly thinks was named because its Missouri meerschaum pipes are a "boon to a troubled world." Collectors already are after "Paumanok," whose passages are notable for tender beauty and their evidence of a broad vocabulary.

Henry and Louise are the "publishers in petto, near the Cathedral, Garden City," being Doubleday, Page, friends of Morley.—R. G. B.

ACTORS' FUND SHOW IS A FINE SUCCESS

About $9000 Is Raised by Dinner and 30 Acts of Vaudeville.

With more than 30 acts of vaudeville, provided by most of the actors and actresses appearing in the local theatres this week, 700 persons were entertained from 11 o'clock last night until 3 this morning at the Chase Hotel. Before the vaudeville began the 700 guests, who paid $12.50 apiece for their tickets, were served a dinner which began at 10 o'clock. The entertainment was for the benefit of the Actors' Fund of America, which is endeavoring to raise a million and a half dollars for the endowment of the actors' home on Staten Island, N. Y. No complete check-up had been made of the amount raised last night, but it is thought that after the sales program and flowers, some smaller entertainments and donations have been accounted for, that the local committee, under the direction of former Mayor Kiel, will turn over about $9000 to the national organization.

Al Jolson, with his Negro jubilee singers from the Shubert-Rialto Theater, was looked upon as the headliner of last night's performance, with Elliott Nugent and members of his "The Poor Nut" company from the American, sharing the honors. Jean Redini, from the Orpheum, acted as master of ceremonies, introducing each act. One of the best features was a singing and dancing turn by a large number of members of the Municipal Opera chorus.

The St. Louis branch of the Musicians' Union contributed a 50-piece orchestra and the Stage Hands built and equipped the stage. Mr. Kiel opened the affair by introducing Mayor Miller, who made a short address.

Dancing followed the vaudeville part of the show.

DR. B. LEWIS CHARGES THEFT OF $15,000

Securities Salesman Is Accused of Embezzlement in Two Indictments.

Two indictments were returned in Circuit Court today, charging F. E. Jacobs, securities salesman, with embezzlement of $2648 cash, and bonds of the Cities Service Co., valued at $13,000, from a client, Dr. Bransford Lewis of 625 Clara avenue, a surgeon with offices in the Century Building.

The alleged embezzlements took place Jan. 17 and July 24, 1925. Dr. Lewis was out of the city today, and details of his complaint could not be learned.

W. S. Madden, district sales manager of H. L. Doherty & Co., Boston's Bank Building, agents for the Cities Service Co., said Jacobs was employed as a salesman until last June, but that the transactions between Jacobs and Dr. Lewis were of a personal nature, and did not concern Doherty & Co.

Jacobs, who is about 50 years old, could not be reached at his residence, 5312 McPherson avenue.

FIRST SEWER DISTRICT PLEA FILED IN COUNTY

Invokes New Law for Creation of Zone at Webster Groves.

The first petition for incorporation of a sewer district, with authority to issue 20-year bonds to pay for sewers, was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton today, one week after the new St. Louis County sewer enabling law became effective. It is for Webster Groves District No. 1, covering exactly the same territory as River View District No. 1, which was dissolved last year, after the old sewer law was held unconstitutional.

A public hearing on the petition will be held before Circuit Judge McElhinney April 22. The territory involved, a large and populous one, includes all of Webster Groves, all of Shrewsbury, the northern half of Glendale and irregular sections of unincorporated country running to the eastern line of Kirkwood and to Manchester road. The irregularity is due to the necessity of following drainage sheds.

There are 150 petitioners asking for formation of this district, 50 per cent more than the required minimum. Their lawyers are Roessel & Minton, Edward G. Curtis of the firm of Nagel & Kirby, and Carter, Jones & Turney. Robert A. Roessel is City Attorney of Webster Groves, and Curtis and John R. Turney reside there. The petition recommends appointment by the court as commissioners to conduct affairs of the district, Clarence R. Comfort, a stationer; W. O. Pennell, chief engineer of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and J. P. Larson, secretary of the St. Louis Millmen's Association. The proposed commissioners stipulated they would serve without pay, and the attorneys stipulated they would do likewise if appointed by the court as counsel for the commissioners.

The former River des Peres sewer district had cost property owners of this area $21,000 for fees to attorneys, engineers and assistants, and only preliminary plans were accomplished before the enabling law was knocked out. The County Chamber of Commerce, in which Roessel and Curtis are active, is seeking to prevent recapitulating persons from mulcting property owners in formation of new districts.

Under the law, a sewer district may issue bonds, the interest and retirement of which are to be met by a separate tax on property within the district, under a special assessment.

REICHSTAG APPROVES BUDGET FOR REPARATIONS PAYMENTS
Party Leaders Agree That Dawes Plan Must Be Revised to Suit Altered Conditions.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, April 1.—The Reichstag has approved the budget provisions for full payment of the Dawes plan annuities. Only the communists opposed payment when the vote was taken.

Before the vote there was a calm discussion of Germany's economic situation as affected by the Dawes plan, the common burden of all the speeches being the necessity for early revision of the plan.

The speakers made obvious efforts to limit themselves to moderate expressions. Only Dr. Reinhold Quatz, Extreme Nationalist, attacked the Dawes plan as having upset Germany's industrial life. He suggested that the tax burden should not be made heavier because "the more we exert ourselves the more we must pay to other countries."

Dr. Friedrich Dessauer, Communist, and reporter for the Budget Committee, made it plain that the Dawes plan is greatly preferable to the situation which existed before it was formulated. He agreed with the others that the Dawes plan must be revised, but stressed Germany's desire to fulfill her obligations.

ROBBERS LOCK 25 IN BANK VAULT, ESCAPE WITH $25,000
Five Unmasked Men Work Leisurely, Holding Up Customers as They Enter Texas Depository.

By the Associated Press.
TAMPA, Tex., April 1.—Five unmasked bank robbers, who declined to take money from a customer, and instructed their victims on how to escape from a vault, robbed the Tampa First National Bank of $25,000.

Three men with revolvers appeared at the main doors of the bank. One remained at the front door, while the other two backed all employees and customers into the rear of the building, where they were concealed by a temporary partition erected while the bank is undergoing repairs.

As customers entered the robber at the front door ordered them to the rear, taking their money.

Finally the robbers ordered the customers and employees, numbering about 25, into the vault. One of the men tossed a screwdriver to them, giving instructions on how it was to be used to open the door after the robbers had left.

OXFORD HONORS MEN WHOM IT EXPELLED

Shelly, Gibbon, Locke, Landor and William Penn Among Them.

By the Associated Press.
OXFORD, England, April 1.—Almost as many famous men have been expelled or have quit Oxford University prematurely as have been graduated in the regular manner.

One who was expelled outright was William Penn, who later went to America and gave his name to Pennsylvania. Another, the Prince of Wales who left prematurely at his parents' request, probably will be the King of England.

The undergraduate career of Percy Bysshe Shelley is perhaps the best known. He entered Oxford in 1810, and lived for 11 months in rooms at University College. It was here that Shelley wrote his pamphlet "The Necessity of Atheism" the publication of which caused both Shelley and his friend James Hogg to be expelled in disgrace. A Shelley memorial now occupies a large corner of the main quadrangle of University College. A copy of the very pamphlet on "The Necessity of Atheism" for which he had originally been expelled, is on view at the Bodleian Library.

William Penn entered Christ Church in 1681, and was expelled for non-conformity. But now in the great dining hall of Christ Church hangs his portrait.

Close by Penn's portrait hangs the portrait of John Locke, the philosopher, who was expelled soon after, in 1684, on charges of sedition against the Government of Charles II.

Walter Savage Landor, the author, was a student at Trinity College in the days following the American Revolution. He was an ardent partisan of the revolutionary forces, to the disgust of Tory aristocrats in the college. He was an admirer of George Washington, and his earliest writings include an ode written to him. The climax of the young democrat's feud with his aristocratic neighbors came in 1793, when, as he declared, an "obnoxious Tory" was giving a dinner to a group of "servitors and other ruff." In the midst of the dinner, Landor attempted to stage a little revolution of his own. He fired several shots from across the hall at the door of the obnoxious Tory. Luckily no fatalities resulted, but the college authorities expelled Landor.

Sir Richard Burton, later famous in English political life, was promptly dismissed in 1840 after attempting to fight a duel with one of his classmates.

Edward Gibbon, author of "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," who entered Magdalen in 1752 at the age of 15, was expelled 14 months later for joining the Roman Catholic church.

JUDGE DAVIS ASSIGNED TO HEAR HEBER NATIONS' SECOND TRIAL

Conviction of Former Labor Commissioner Was Set Aside Because Paris Didn't Disqualify Self.

Federal Judge Davis today was designated by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to try the case of Heber Nations, former State Labor Commissioner, charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law in the sale of beer from the Griesedieck Brewery, whose conviction and sentence of 18 months in the penitentiary at a previous trial was set aside by the Appellate Court.

The first trial was before Federal Judge Faris. The Appellate Court ruled he should have disqualified himself when the defendant alleged prejudice. Judge Davis said he did not think the second trial could be held before autumn because of a crowded docket.

WHO KILLED WOMAN OVER HUSBAND ACQUITTED

Shelby County Trial Jury Upholds Her Right to Defend Sanctity of Home.

SHILLY COUNTY, Ky., April 1.—A woman has as much right to defend her home as has a man, a jury has decided in acquitting Mattie Simpson Walker, 32, old, wife of Sheriff G. C. Walker, and mother of six children. It was charged that Mrs. Walker shot to death Mrs. Stella Walker, last summer, because of alleged "affair" with Mrs. Walker's husband. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes. Approximately 300 persons in the room applauded the verdict. The judge rapped for order. The acquitted woman's six children were in court when the verdict was returned. Sheriff Walker was not present.

In the "unwritten law" plea, defense coupled one of emotional insanity at the time of the shooting. Mrs. Walker said in testimony she remembered nothing of the slaying. The alleged insanity was brought on, Mrs. Walker testified, by clandestine meetings with her husband and the woman was slain.

ISSUE VOUCHERS FEDERAL JURYMEN

Judge Paris Says There Is No Law for Such Payment for Services.

Federal Judge Paris said today that he knew of no law which would authorize him or Judge Smith or any Federal officials to issue certificates or vouchers to the Treasury, in payment for jury and witness service. Because of the Senate filibuster and the adjournment without passing the emergency appropriation bill, jury and witness funds are short, and the courts are now proceeding with only a fraction of the usual quota of jurors.

Lawyers have suggested that the courts might issue such certificates or vouchers, which banks would cash at a slight discount, but Judge Paris cited not only the lack of any statute authorizing such action but the order sent out by the Attorney-General, that deficits shall not be created.

An allowance of $4000 has been made for jury fees at the spring term of court here. The usual cost of jury service for this term is $1000. The amount allowed will permit the trying of cases of prisoners who have been unable to give bond, mostly in liquor cases. Such prisoners are being brought into court to plead guilty or stand trial. For a trial yesterday, the jury panel of 17 did not suffice, and a Deputy Marshal was sent out on Olive street to pick up six more men. The usual panel is 15.

The acquitted woman's six children were in court when the verdict was returned. Sheriff Walker was not present. With the "unwritten law" plea, the defense coupled one of emotional intensity at the time of the trial. Mrs. Walker said in testimony she remembered nothing about the slaying. The alleged insanity was brought on, Mrs. Walker testified, by clandestine meetings of the husband and the woman who was slain.

Receipts of U. R.-BUS LINE
SHOW INCREASE OF $75,658

Receipts for Year Attributed to Extension of Service into Undeveloped Territory.

Receipts of the St. Louis Bus Co. were increased $75,658.44 for the year Feb. 1, 1926, to Feb. 1, 1927, over a similar previous period, according to a report to the city by Assistant Treasurer W. M. Morrison of the United Railroads Co., which operates the line.

Under its permit the bus company must pay the city a tax of one cent on gross receipts, or $10.20, for last year. The previous year gross receipts amounted to $1,448,14, on which a tax of $14.48 was paid.

The increase is due largely to an extension of the bus service into previously undeveloped territory, Morrison said.

The gross earnings of the Peoria Motorbus Co. for last year had not been reported to the city.

PUTS LIFE SPAN AT 70 YEARS
 Discoverer of Insulin Doubts Average Ever Will Be 100.
 By the Associated Press.
 SEATTLE, Wash., April 1.—Human beings may look forward to an average life of 70 years in the opinion of Dr. John James Rickard Macleod of Toronto, Noble prize winner for medicine in 1922 for his discovery of insulin.
 "I don't think that the average length of life will ever be 100 years," he said. "The human machine wears out just like a mechanical engine."

HIGHWAY TO LINK 19 NATIONS PLANNED

Projected Route Would Traverse United States, Central and South America.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A 16,000-mile system of highways linking 19 nations of North, Central and South America, is the aim of bills introduced too late in the 69th Congress to be enacted but likely to be reintroduced in the 70th Congress.

Senator Cameron of Arizona, sponsored the proposal in the Senate, and Representative McLeod of Michigan, in the House.

For 30 years such a road has been the dream of James D. Dettick, veteran engineer who has spent many years in Latin America.

The bill would create a Pan-American Peoples' Great Highway Commission, comprising all members of the United States cabinet, the director of the Pan-American Union, and three appointed members to act as an executive committee, and would appropriate $200,000 to finance its work. Although great links of the proposed highway system already are in operation or under construction, proponents of the project estimate that the commission would have 10 years of effort ahead of it before its work could be completed.

The proposed highway would cross the United States from Detroit to Laredo, with Canadian roads easily accessible to the north and a Mexican Government highway now under construction reaching southward to the Guatemalan frontier.

"Guatemala and Salvador," says Dettick, "are constructing highways in hopes of linking with the Mexican highway within a year." Teaching south to Chile, he dreams of seeing the road cross the Andes and Plains of Argentina to Buenos Aires, stretch northward to Rio de Janeiro, thence across Brazil to the upper Amazon Valley, and on through eastern Colombia until a junction is made with the main artery near Panama.

Denies Doctors Are Leaving Pekin.

NEW YORK, April 1.—The Rockefeller Foundation announces that a cable report that all American members of Pekin Union Medical College staff were leaving Pekin immediately was incorrect. "Some families," it said, "are leaving the city, particularly those who had planned to leave soon in any case on account of expiration of appointment or on regular furlough. It is probable most of the staff members will remain as long as the legation considers it wise for them to stay. Our last cable from Pekin, dated March 29, reported that Pekin was quiet and the local situation reassuring."

FATHER FRANCIS MIDDEN-DORF

EX-ST. LOUISAN TELLS OF RAID BY CHINESE

Father Francis Midden-Dorf Describes Wrecking of His Church.

Bolshevik influence is blamed for the antireligious agitation in China in letters sent home by the Rev. Father Francis Midden-Dorf of the Catholic Order of Franciscan Fathers, formerly of St. Louis, who has taken refuge at Hankow after being forced to flee from his mission at Tayeh near Wuchang, capital of the province of Hupeh, in the interior. Father Midden-Dorf had just dedicated his new church last Christmas, but it was attacked exactly a week later by a mob of Chinese.

The incident is related in a letter recently received by his uncle, the Rev. Father Roger Midden-Dorf, of the Franciscan Monastery at 3140 Maramee street. The letter, dated Jan. 13, at Hankow, follows in part:

"On New Year's night we had had an event in Tayeh, lasting about three hours, which now seems like a nightmare to me. It was something out of the ordinary—a kind of hell for the time being. The new missionary, Father Raymond, and I, were in hiding in the midst—or rather, on top of it all. We were in the attic of our living quarters next to the church. 'Bolshevized Mob.'"

"A mob of bolshevized Chinese stormed our house and the new church and utterly wrecked in destruction. The buildings were left unharmed with the exception of windows and doors, but practically everything in the church and residence was ruined. Vestments, chalices, etc., were saved, however, as we had hidden them away previously. Had we expected the trouble (which was brought about only by a very few bad characters), we would have saved more articles by hiding them in the houses of our Christians."

"There were even such in the mob at Tayeh who suggested killing the missionary. But I suppose that the Lord would not give me the grace of martyrdom. There might yet be a chance, and perhaps it is the only way I have to save my soul. If only they do it quickly and not inch by inch! It seems, however, that the trouble is blowing over and the revolutionary authorities are beginning to take some action against those irregularities of mobs which occurred in several places. I am this evening planning to return to my missions. The cross I have vowed to bear of late may be significant of a more successful activity in my missions for the year which has just begun."

Additional details of the attack on the church were related in another letter dated the same day. Father Francis Midden-Dorf sent to his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Midden-Dorf, of 518 North Eighth street, Quincy, Ill. In this letter he told of his meeting with a new mandarin in the province several weeks before the church was ransacked and of the mandarin's absence from Tayeh when threats reached the ears of the Franciscan Father on New Year's day. The mandarin spoke English well and appeared to be a cultured gentleman. The Catholic and Protestant missions the only foreign settlements thereabouts, were both attacked about 10 p. m.

Former St. Louisan in China. Father Francis Midden-Dorf, who is 36 years old, was sent to China in 1921 and assigned to Tayeh two years ago. He was educated at St. Joseph's College, Teutopolis, Ill., and at the Franciscan Seminary in West Park, a suburb of Cleveland, O. He was ordained in St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Meramec street and Compton avenue, as was, also, his assistant at Tayeh, Father Raymond. A letter dated Feb. 20 was received by Father Roger Midden-Dorf from the Rev. Father Ambrose Pinger, former assistant in St. Anthony's Parish here, who is now in Changtun, Shantung. There is no mention of any trouble there as the Cantonese disturbances are far south of that area. He sent the good wishes of five other former St. Louisans who are now Franciscan missionaries scattered in Shantung Province, the Rev. Fathers Rufinus Glauber, Edwin Pochtman, Justin Schneider, Philip Rittmeier and Emanuel Behrendt.

YOUNG WOMAN HELPS HOLD UP OIL STATION

Ties Employee While Man Steals $56—Thought Girl Police Pursued Tuesday.

A young woman, presumed to be the one who assisted a man in a South St. Louis store holdup last Tuesday and escaped police after an automobile chase through downtown streets in which shots were exchanged, participated in a hold-up of the Standard Oil filling station, Hamilton and Cates avenues, at 10:30 o'clock last night.

The woman, accompanying a man, drove up to the station in a small coupe, of the same make as used in Tuesday's robbery. Both entered the station office, the man drawing an automatic pistol, and the woman, who was in the back seat, to enter the rear washroom. The woman produced a cord from her coat and tied Pollock hand and foot to a chair. They locked the washroom door from the outside, took $56.63 from the cash register, and drove away. Pollock was released 15 minutes later when a customer entered and heard him kicking the door.

The woman was early 20s, about 5 feet 5 inches tall and had dark hair. She wore a red coat.

Thief Invades Church and Robs Woman Secretary. While Mrs. Josephine Gorn, 6123 Waterman avenue, secretary of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Union and Delmar boulevards, was in her office there at 1:30 p. m. yesterday, a man entered, snatched her handbag, containing $5 and several checks, from a desk, and ran out.

Miss Dorothy Beeler, stenographer at the George Scherer Flour and Feed Co., 302 Granite Building, received a telephone summons at 5 p. m. yesterday to another office to receive a letter. Investigation showed the call was a scheme to get her out of her office, and she rushed back to find a young man rifling a desk. Neighboring employees held the man until police arrived. He denied he intended robbery, but police think he may be the man who has been looting offices after decaying occupants elsewhere.

As Hyman Multin, butcher, 123 Aubert avenue, was putting his automobile in a garage at the rear of 4951 Maple avenue, at 8:10 p. m., an armed man appeared, compelled Multin to lie on the garage floor, and robbed him of $200.

Sixty bolts of cloth, valued at $1300, and uninsured, were stolen last night from the shop of Oscar Greenspoon, tailor, 3227 South Grand boulevard.

LIQUOR RUNNER, ARRESTED 61 TIMES, FREED ON BOND Identified as Kidnaped and Robbed, Haverstick Released Before Illinois Sheriff Arrives. Harry L. Haverstick, 28, liquor runner of the Indianapolis-St. Louis trade, who has been arrested here 61 times for investigation, today was identified by Freeman Wright of Indianapolis as one of two men who kidnaped him and a companion, wounding Wright, and robbed them of $1900 near Danville, Ill.

Judge Gayer and Provisional Judge Grodzki yesterday in succession approved $10,000 bonds for Haverstick and then, learning the circumstances from police, withdrew them. One of the bondsmen returned a few minutes after the identification was made with another $10,000 bond approved by Judge Gayer, refundable April 11, and Haverstick was released on it.

He was arrested yesterday two hours after St. Louis detectives learned he was sought by Danville police, and held for Chief Ryan of Danville, who arrived this morning. His $2000 bond was forfeited when he failed to appear there, as Lloyd Haverstick, in July, 1925. He was known also as Floyd Washburn. Today he gave his residence address as Madison, Ill.

'SLAIN' MAN RETURNS, SIX HELD FOR KILLING GO FREE Three Women and Three Men Had Been Indicted After Alabama Disappeared 12 Months Ago. By The Associated Press. EUTAW, Ala., April 1.—Six persons scheduled to face trial today for the killing of J. D. Lott, traveling painter, a year ago, are at liberty because of Lott's sudden appearance in Eutaw yesterday. Miss Thelma Wilson, Miss Lottie Wilson and Mrs. Miss Reynolds, sisters, and William and Charles Upchurch and Hal Lee were indicted recently by a grand jury on testimony that Lott had been killed and his body dumped into the waters of the Black Warrior River. Following Lott's disappearance 12 months ago, authorities began an investigation which disclosed bloodstains beside the highway several miles from here while other signs of a struggle and apparent attack were discovered on a raft on the river.

14 MEN IN POOLROOM ROBBED Three men, with revolvers, holding handkerchiefs to their faces, lined up 14 customers in the poolroom of Patrick Van Horn at 2512 State street, East St. Louis, at midnight, and took $90 from the customers and $40 from a cash register.

VETERAN SWIDLER, NEVER CAUGHT BEFORE, ADMITS GUILT

Frank Adam Reed enters plea; to be sentenced for Bilking Okawville (Ill.) Mayor.

Frank Adam Reed's 41-year record as a confidence man without once being convicted, was broken today when the 69-year-old patriarch of "Chapple" Moran, notorious gang pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Davis of a charge of swindling Mayor William O. Frank of Okawville, Ill., who lost $35,000 in Liberty bonds in July, 1925, to a band of five "con" men.

Judge Davis deferred sentence until Monday. Reed was remanded to the custody of the United States Marshal and was taken to city jail. The maximum penalty on the charge is five years' imprisonment, but it is not likely that Reed will receive the maximum because of his advanced age.

He was arrested in Chicago last month. He told postoffice inspectors after he was returned here that he had never been in a conviction or a plea of guilty, for any of the numerous swindles in which he participated during his long career. The setting for the swindle of Mayor Frank was at the Majestic Hotel here.

WEBSTER GROVES MAYORALTY FIGHT BASED ON ZONING ISSUE

Two Rival Lumbermen Are Candidates, With Trees Used for Campaign Advertising.

Supporters of Fred Groekamp, lumberman, in his race for mayor of Webster Groves against the incumbent, John Chipman, also a lumberman, have taken a new tack. On each of 26 maple trees in a grove along Big Bend road, between Gore and Gray avenues, they have tacked printed placards reading:

TO BE DESTROYED

Against emphatic protests of a united group of property holders, the present administration changed the zoning law to permit a lumber business to be located here.

Scratch the Chipman ticket.

Formerly the trees were in a residential zone, but now are in the path of commerce. The change in zoning is a major issue, in next Tuesday's election.

EMIGRATION ITALY'S GREAT PROBLEM, PROF. ROSELLI SAYS

Diplomat Visiting in St. Louis Suggests Emigration as Solution for Surplus Population.

Italy's great problem, of a colonial possession of importance and with the immigration war in the United States, is to find an outlet for the 600,000 annual population surplus, Prof. Bruno Roselli of Vassar, former attaché of the Italian embassy at Washington, said yesterday when he arrived to speak at a meeting of the Current Topics Club.

Dr. Roselli said the problem also was faced by Germany and Japan, and suggested a possibility that the three nations seek a common solution. Fascism, he thought, had been set on its own feet last year, and would stand alone for years to come, surviving its creator, Mussolini.

HIGHER TAX RATE FAVORED

St. Clair County Superior to Be Urged to Increase Levy.

The St. Clair County Board of Supervisors meeting tomorrow will be asked to adopt a resolution, recommended by the committees on finance, roads and bridges, courthouse and county jail, favoring a levy of an additional tax of 18 cents over the present county rate of 75 cents. The resolution provides that the proposition be placed before the voters of the county at the judicial election, June 6.

It is pointed out that with 18 cents additional tax on $100 value, the county can keep up road maintenance and erect additions proposed for the county jail, courthouse and county hospital, which will cost approximately $200,000 without resorting to a bond issue. It is expected that the board will pass the resolution. Civic organizations in the county favor the increase.

VETERANS OF SHILOH TO SAIL

Depart Tomorrow on Pilgrimage to Battlefield in Mississippi.

Veterans of the Battle of Shiloh, making their annual pilgrimage to the battlefield at Corinth, Miss., will be entertained by the Chamber of Commerce and other St. Louis organizations at 2 p. m. tomorrow prior to their departure of the Steamer Tennessee Belle.

Robert E. Lee will be in charge of arrangements and Mayor Miller will address the veterans, the program being carried out at the dock at the foot of Pine street.

TWO PERSONS SWALLOW BONES

Bones swallowed while eating were removed from the throats of Mrs. Jennie Kilkenny, 58 years old, of 1809 North Leffingwell avenue, and William Smith, 9 of 1840 Greer avenue at City Hospital last night by physicians using the bronchoscope. The bones removed were each about an inch long.

The bronchoscope is a hollow tubing through which forceps and a small electric light may be manipulated.

Minnesota Gets Rotary Meeting CHICAGO, April 1.—Minneapolis, Minn., was selected today as the host city for the nineteenth annual convention of Rotary International, to be held June 18 to 22, 1928.

Youth Held for Stealing Auto.

A Buick coach, owned by the South Side Auto Co., Jefferson and Lafayette avenues, and stolen from in front of 1700 Nicholson place, March 17, was recovered yesterday near Clinton, Mo., where it had been abandoned. Sheriff Markle of Henry County arrested Charles Wolf, 18 years old, of 2100 Waverly place, who, he reported, had abandoned the machine, and came to St. Louis with the prisoner and the automobile. He said Wolf admitted taking the automobile "for a ride."

COLD BEEFSTEAK STRIPS

Cold beefsteak is too little appreciated. So far from being a makeshift dish for a catch-up meal, if a little care is put on its preparation, cold beefsteak may
tance.

First, the steak should have been cut thick; second, it should have been lightly broiled unless individual preferences are strong for well-done meat. Then the steak should have been set away to become thoroughly cold. With a sharp knife the strips should be cut not more than one-half inch in width. In finger lengths the steak strips will then present a most attractive appearance.
Considerable ingenuity may be exercised in arranging these strips for serving. They may be laid in straight rows on a platter and garnished with sweet pickles and parsley. They may be served between thin slices of white bread and butter or they may be arranged to suit individual idea and taste.

Speaking of garnishing, while pickle or chutney or some other accessory is an ideal accompaniment, there is something indescribably appetizing about nicely
broiled cold steak when served with literally nothing but salt.
When the cold strips are intended for the children's lunch, for example, this latter is the better way of serving.

Try This.

Next time you want a special wholesome spring salad, try garning raw carrots combined with one part of diced apple. Serve with French dressing and set away to cool.

TWO CHEESE RECIPES

Easy Ways of Preparing Leftover

Slice the cold cereal which has been molded in an oblong pan and spread with pimento cheese. Then place two slices together as for a sandwich and place in the oven
until the cheese is slightly melted and the cereal well heated. Grated cheese may be added to almost any simple dish of like character to please the fickle appetites of children.

Allow the cheese to become rather dry, grate it and mix well with cooked rice, wheat or almost any other cold cereal. Place in a casserole with bits of red chopped pepper for color and moisten with milk, sprinkle with grated cheese and allow to brown lightly in the oven.

A new wrinkle in mashed potatoes calls for the addition of onion juice and grated nutmeg, allowing one teaspoon of onion juice and one-fourth teaspoon grated nutmeg
to each quart of mashed potato.
Mix the seasoning well with the vegetable.

This Is the Time of Year
To Learn More About Fish

At the Height of the Lenten Season Additional Calls Come for Recipes for Fish Dishes.

The Lenten season popularizes
fish—fresh, canned, dried, smoked and salted. Many housekeepers use fish less frequently than they should
for it is a valuable food.
Their objection to including fish
in the family menu is that a fish meal is difficult to plan.

This objection is easily overcome
if you keep in mind to have an acid in some form or other in the menu. Fruit, salad or sauce answers the purpose.

Such things as tomato soup, fruit cocktail, pickle, salad with French dressing, tart savory sauce for the fish, fruit pudding—all of these have the tartness and flavor that will bring out the deliciousness of the fish itself.

Fresh fish is readily procured in this market. We may choose between the sweet water fish, mainly obtained from our rivers and fresh-water lakes, and ocean fish,
which are brought to us in perfect condition and quite as palatable as when we eat them in the Eastern seaboard cities where they are caught fresh every day.

When fresh fish is lacking,
turn to the canned and dried ones.
They are usually less expensive than fresh fish, they contain no
waste and are all ready to use, avoiding the preparation. Canned fish, as salmon, tuna, etc., may be used in any recipe calling for cooked fish and will give you a quick meal in a short time.

Times you are not successful
using salted and smoked fish remember this—since the water has been taken out of the fresh fish
it needs to be put back in to make it tender and delicious as when fresh.

Place them flesh side down in fresh water for anywhere from one to 24 hours, depending on the fish.
There should be plenty of water,
and it may be changed several times.

Of course, if the fish is to be cooked, in a liquid as water, milk or tomato, it will not need to be soaked as long. And, too, the less they are salted and dried, the shorter the time they need for soaking.

After sufficient soaking it does not need to be cooked so long or it may become stringy and tasteless; usually 15 or 20 minutes is enough. Whether the fish is cooked in the same water it is soaked in or not depends on the product—
if the water is salty, discard it; if it is flavorful, as from smoked fish, use it.

These smoked, dried and salted
fish can be cooked in many recipes calling for fresh fish—creamed, au gratin, baked in milk.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Dishes Which Are Especially Appealing in This Transition Season.

Combine fresh left-over vegetables from vegetable dinners so that colors and flavors will blend harmoniously. Moisture the vegetable mixture with a cream sauce and arrange the creamed vegetables as a border around an omelette which has been well browned and transferred to a serving dish.

Clam Fritters. One pint clams, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup milk, one and one-third cups flour, two eggs, salt and pepper to season. Clean the clams and drain from the liquor. Then chop and add the well beaten eggs. Add the milk, then the flour, which has been sifted and stirred with the baking powder. Combine with the chopped clams; season well with pepper and salt. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat until brown and drain on a brown paper. Serve immediately on a folded napkin.

Rice Muffins. Two and one-quarter cups flour, one egg, two tablespoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup milk, three-quarters cup hot cooked rice, five teaspoons baking powder. Combine the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add one-half cup milk, three-quarters cup hot cooked rice, five teaspoons baking powder. Combine the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add one-half cup milk, three-quarters cup hot cooked rice, five teaspoons baking powder.

Combine the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add one-half cup milk, three-quarters cup hot cooked rice, five teaspoons baking powder. Combine the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add one-half cup milk, three-quarters cup hot cooked rice, five teaspoons baking powder.

Butter Scotch Sauce. Prepare an ordinary vanilla ice cream and serve with the following sauce: One and one-half cups granulated sugar, four tablespoons sugar syrup, three-fourths cup boiling water for the white sugar, six tablespoons boiling water to be added later, one and one-fourth tablespoons butter, three-fourths teaspoon vanilla. Combine the sugar, syrup and the three-quarters cup of boiling water and boil until a bit dropped in cold water will be crisp. Take from the fire and add the other materials. This may be colored with vegetable coloring if desired.

Marshmallow Cake. One cup butter, three and one-half cups pastry flour, three eggs, one cup milk, grated rind of one-half lemon, two cups sugar, three teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two teaspoons lemon juice. Cream the sugar and shortening. Add the well-beaten eggs. Add the milk, lemon juice and rind. Have ready the dry materials sifted together and combine the two mixtures. Bake in three-layer cake tins in a moderate oven. When the cake is cold spread two layers with soft frosting in which quartered marshmallows are arranged. Place the layers together and dust the top with powdered sugar.

Lenten Loaf. One-pound can salmon, one cup rice, one-half cup bread crumbs, one egg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon onion juice, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one-eighth teaspoon celery salt. Cook the rice in five cups boiling water for 20 minutes. Drain and line a greased baking dish with the cooked rice, leaving a nest in the center. Pick over the salmon, mash and add egg, bread crumbs and seasonings. Pack this mixture into the nest, covering with the cooked rice. Cover baking dish and set in shallow pan of water. Bake in a moderate oven 20 minutes. Turn out on platter and pour around the loaf hot tomato sauce. Any chopped cooked fish may be used for the filling.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Care Should Be Expended Building Up the Family Meals.

Now that the days are warm on to early spring it is important to keep certain principles in mind. The heavy foods which have been so appetizing all winter should gradually be replaced by lighter types. On the other hand, since the season for such foods is in most sections of the country, fairly well established, it may perhaps be well to retain certain features of winter menus as long as possible. "Trick" is to steer a straight course and to use common sense in planning menus for this betwixt and between season.

This is just what we have to do this week. Fresh rhubarb, the only really springlike vegetable, is to be featured. Oranges, apples, bananas and grape juice are really weather standbys. They are popular, however, and are important from the standpoint of food value that one is reluctant to discontinue their use. For this time on spring and summer fruits will be featured. The spring thought has been kept in mind when planning vegetables for this week. Cabbage, sprouts, beet tops, and lettuce are all expected "goes for the system" at this time of year. The question of meat invades presents itself in many such discussions as this. Because of the fact that we have offered at one, and usually two, vegetable dinners a week throughout the year, makes it seem quite proper to have a week now and again when the meat course is omitted. As for desserts, these are usual, simple and for the most part "light." The steamed pudding served on Friday is the only winter type of dessert retained.

A big bowl of Heinz Rice Flakes! Crispy. Curly. Crunchy. Different. Different from any other breakfast cereal, for they are made by a special process discovered, owned and used exclusively by Heinz.

Then, of course, they're rice flakes, crisped to a golden brown, and they stay crisp in milk or cream. Flaked rice is something entirely new. So that makes Heinz Rice Flakes a complete surprise.

Three wrappings protect the delicate, pop-corn flavor and the crackly crispness of Heinz Rice Flakes. And they come all ready to serve. Simply add milk or cream and, if you wish, a little sugar.

Tell your grocer to include a package of Heinz Rice Flakes in today's order and, tomorrow, watch the whole family respond to The Silent Breakfast Bell.

STRAWBERRY TIME IS WITH US AGAIN

This Most Delicious of Berries Appeals to Young and Old.

The strawberry season is with us. Of all the small fruits, strawberries are probably the most attractive and the most delicious. They are also among the fruits most readily served. They like-wise are versatile as they may be served at breakfast, dinner, supper or luncheon.

Fresh berries served with sugar and cream make an ideal breakfast dish.

For luncheon serve the fruit in a tart or in shortcake. For dinner serve them more ornately in a sherbert, in an ice, with ice cream or in Bavarian cream or as a whip.

At the beginning of the strawberry season wisdom suggests that we use the berries as trimmings for dishes and desserts rather than serve them alone as a dessert. With this thought in mind we offer the following recipes for several strawberry dishes which are most delicious:

Strawberry Whip.
Mix one and one-half cups strained strawberry pulp, one cup sifted powdered sugar and two egg whites in a large bowl. Beat all together until stiff enough to hold its shape. Serve with whipped cream.

Strawberry Sponge.
Soak one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water about 10 minutes. Dissolve in one-half cup boiling water. Add one and one-half cups sugar and two table-spoons lemon juice. When cool, add one and one-half cups strained strawberry pulp. Set in pan of ice water.

In the meantime beat stiff three egg whites and add to the cooled fruit and gelatin mixture. Beat the mixture well and turn into a mould which had previously been rinsed with ice water. Set in ice box to chill. When ready to serve, turn out on a large serving dish or platter and garnish with sweetened whipped cream and choice berries.

Hot Strawberry Sauce.
Mix one cup strawberry juice and one-half tablespoon lemon juice and bring to boiling point. Thick-en mixture with one-half table-spoon cornstarch mixed with one-half cup sugar and two table-spoons cold water. Stir constantly until smooth and thick. Serve hot as sauce for rice or cottage pudding or with ice cream.

Cold Strawberry Sauce.
Cream one-fourth cup butter and add one and one-half cups sifted powdered sugar gradually. When creamy add one stiffly beaten egg white and one cup strained straw-berry pulp. Beat mixture until well blended. This sauce may be used the same as hot sauce. It is par-ticularly nice with ice cream, eclairs and to serve over slices of cake.

Strawberry Trifle.
Have you tried beating whipped cream and strawberries together? Crush the berries in a bowl and add enough powdered sugar to sweet-en. Beat cream stiff and fold in the fruit and it is ready to serve with slices of your favorite cake. The whipped cream makes a much larger amount of dessert when you have only a small amount of fruit.

To Fluff Vegetables.
Baking powder added to mashed potatoes or carrots, together with the milk, and beaten thoroughly, makes a delightfully light and ap-petizing dish.

Prune Whip.
Prune whip is a universally fa-vored dessert. Don't forget that one good way of introducing fruit into the diet is by varying this whip or soufflé form of dessert. Bananas, peaches, cranberries, ap-ples and strawberries may be mashed or thickened until they form a pulp and this pulp is stirred into stiffly beaten egg whites just as prune pulp is to

Libby's Chili Con Carne
Travelers from old Mexico say that the real "kick" of chili con carne is found at its best in Libby's: chili peppers and spices mixed with plump beans and tender beef. Just try it. At your grocer's make prune soufflé. The general proportion is one cup of thick fruit pulp for the whites of two eggs with three table-spoons of sugar.

THE WOMAN
OF IT.

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

TO HARLEQUIN

You clasp the pale, slim form of Columbine,
She thrills with joy—all unaware that you Are not Pierrot, who has been through
By treacherous dagger. As you softly twine
Her brows with subtle moonlight, brightly shine
Old dreams within her eyes, and cool as dew
Her mouth on yours. But see,
there glimmers through Your cloak the stains of murder,
red as wine!

Oh, hold her closely and take all the fair
Young beauty of her—leave no single trace
Of loveliness for wand'ring ghost
to know.
For this is all you have—her lips,
her hair,
Her tender body and her yearning
face.
Still, still she scorns you as she calls: "Pierrot!"

HENRY REICH JR.

Not as Black as She Is Painted.
HE question has just been solemnly submitted to a morality jury of men and women—
"Is the use of cosmetics detrimental to the moral and physical development of American womanhood?"

Seven to two, the verdict is moral acquittal for makeup—
So President Nessler tells the American Master Hairdressers' Association.
At its convention in New York this week.

Among those who refuse to charge makeup with being a moral menace

Are the principal of a girls' high school,
A United States Senator,
A novelist and a feminist.

It seems to us that the common sense of the community must agree

That the modern woman is not as black as she is painted.

If makeup ever was a moral issue—

It is no longer.

It is, today, a question of health,
And a question of taste.

A woman with any sense is careful

About anything which she uses on the sensitive skin of her face.

But even a physician in New York's health department told us That rouge and powder need not harm the skin—

Though some kinds do.

As to the question of taste, that is the real one involved in the use of cosmetics.

The woman who puts them on in gobs

Is simply a person with bad manners and worse esthetic standards.

She makes herself look cheap
And entirely unbecoming.

The artistic purpose of makeup is to simulate natural coloring.

When it fails, it is an excuse for existence is destroyed.

The girl with a powder-blond nose,
Two blaring blobs of red on her
cheekbones,

Lips with sticky and exaggerated
coloring off the edges—

Such a girl's morals may be 100 per cent.

But her good taste is zero.

Someone is always asking, "Why not cultivate a nice, NATURAL color?"

Yes, why not—when most of us live and work in artificially lighted rooms.

And even travel underground, between home and work!

Since civilization allows few women

To live really natural lives—
Why, civilization must put up with facial first aids to nature!

Most New York women admit it, nowadays.

And as for those men who still demure—

"They can't, in the first place, tell
the difference Between a 'real' and a well-made complexion."

And, in the second place, they are not above using their own artificialities

To add to their own beauty!

If they believe so strongly in unassisted nature.

Let 'em grow hair—and beards!
As long as they keep on going to the barber.

They've no right to criticize women

For going to the beauty parlor!

THE MEAN THING.

(With hat doffed to M. C. D.)
Can you recall, oh, dearest one,
That far-off, moonlit nook,
There once upon a time we strolled,
There kissed beside the brook?

Can you recall the winding road,
Through trees of scented pine,
The arboreal seat, cut in the tree,
Where you swore that you'd be mine?

Please try to recall, through all these years,
The road that reached our tree,
'Cause I'd like to show to another girl

The nook that you showed to me.
Of course, She May Be a Back Seat Driver, Too.

Dr. Harvey Wiley expresses indignation because it takes more time and money for a man to get a motorist's license than for him to get a marriage license. But the idea is, doctor, that it's the man who gets the license that runs the car; whereas it's his wife that runs the marriage—so why be fussy about his qualifications to wed?

Gowns Chosen for New York Junior League Fashion Show

Belle Brummel Describes the Styles Worn by the Ultra-Fashionable in the Metropolis.

NEW YORK.

PRINCESS MURAT and a friend
were window shopping Monday along the Fifth Street of the avenue. They were accompanied by a diminutive Pomeranian, which wasn't interested in window-shopping at all. Princess Murat was wearing a black velvet coat banded with gray fox and a black velvet hat.

The informality of Sunday night appeals to us. Dropping in at Ruth Eastman's studio Sunday evening, we found the Marchioness of Queensberry

frocked in brilliant red, a dinner gown—while
Mrs. Harrington Mann proved an excellent foil in black satin back crepe, the long wispy feather on her hair fitting black hat curling

gracefully downward on her left shoulder.

Miss Eastman's gown was charming as she danced. Of flesh pink satin, it was heavily beaded in rhinestone and crystals, three tiers
of the crystal fringe ornamenting
the skirt.

Suzanne and Elizabeth Armstrong walk along Park avenue wearing, as usual, the same outfit in duplicate, which means that they both have on coats of leopard skin, with green sport dresses showing slightly. Their hats are of green felt with green hackle feathers on each side. What the meaning of hackle, is we really don't know, but this type of hat is sponsored by Alphonse in Paris,

so that's that. They are twins,
however, only in their mode of dressing.

Black gros de Londres combined with black chiffon and Spanish lace formed a charming background for Genevieve Parkhurst
as she dined at the Ritz last week. A lap
bertha of the lace
fell well over the arm; the chiffon
hem and rhinestone ornaments at the waistline
were the outstanding notes.

THE Flower Show as always was one of the most colorful events of the year. The Grand Central Palace was magically transformed into a garden. Everybody went at one time or another, for gardening is very much of a hobby
these days and roses, snapdragons, tulips and gladioli all have their faithful followers. In a latticed vine-hung tea garden Miss Virginia Potter and her many helpers were kept serving refreshments. The waitress group, among whom were several debutantes, was headed by pretty Carol Rhoades and in their smocks of pale green and lavender carried out the spring color scheme. As at the Dog Show and the Horse Show, the well dressed woman was wearing sport clothes,

either a simple silk sport frock
with a top chat, or a tailored suit with the smart accessories that are always needed to give a tailored suit individuality.

Mrs. De Witt Clinton having tea
at the Flower Show with Mrs.
James Breeze on Tuesday was wearing navy blue, her frock banded around the V-shaped neck with silver. On the side of her hat were blue hackle feathers and she had on brown lizard shoes. Mrs.
Breeze was in a rose and black frock of flowered chiffon and her hat was small and close and of black felt. Over her shoulders was a fur of cross-tox.

Gray velvet with chinchilla fashioned the coat worn by Mrs. William A. Hamilton and was very becoming to her type of coloring.
Marie Dressler breezed in and breezed out. Her coat was of brocade in dark Oriental colors and had a kolinsky collar. Her brocade dress was fastened at the neck by a pearl pin of a grape design. A long rhinestone pin accentuated

clean table cloth, and then she went back to reading her book, without saying a word, and finally I figured out that she thought I was trying to make up, and it is her place to make up, and I guess
I am the only man in the world who can be unlucky even when he is lucky, and fate likes to kid me along for a while and then sock me an extra dirty one when I am not looking, and if it had been any other time I could have bought exclusive rights to a brand new punch board and would not have won a salted peanut.

The Diary of a New Father

Friday Night.

WELL, Joan is not speaking to me on account of her not knowing whether to let her hair grow or keep it bobbed, and when a man and his wife are friendly he sometimes wishes they were not because she talks too much, and when they are not he wishes they were because there is no talk at all, and it is too bad that they cannot stay just half way friendly so she would talk the right amount, but that would be Utopia or something.

When I came back home this evening I said, "Hello," but Joan did not say hello back, and I said,
"How are you?" but she did not say how she was, and during dinner I had to turn on the radio so I would not think I was eating with a deaf and dumb lady on a desert island, and while we were washing the dishes I accidentally smashed a cup, but even then she did not say a word, and I would have liked to smash another one just to see if I could make her talk, but I was afraid if I did she would.

Well, I am a broad-minded person and I do not carry a grudge around with me until I have forgotten what it is all about, the way some people do, and when I started out to the store after while to get some tobacco I said, "Would you like a magazine?" but Joan did not answer, and I thought,
"Then I darn well will not get you one, or anything else, either."

Milton Work's Bridge Pointers

THE pointer for today is:

"The Informatory Double, Soundly Used, Is a Most Effective Weapon; Improvidently Used, It Is a Devastating Boomerang."

At the risk of repetition, I again strongly emphasize the importance of using the informative double conservatively. With a dependable partner—one who can be relied upon to have at least five high cards of such strength and with such guards that they will probably take tricks—the informative double usually is effective and rarely produces a loss of any consequence, but the improvident doubler who, without the requisite strength, may be forcing his partner to assume a contract to take eight tricks with a hand not good for even one, is a very dangerous vis-a-vis. When a player announces that he will not double unless he has the five high-card strength requirement above described, and lives up to his announcement, he avoids serious losses and maintains the confidence of the partner.

One other essential point to be remembered in connection with the use of the informative double,
is that the partner (in the absence of an intervening adverse bid) is forced to bid; consequently his bid (unless he rebid) cannot be dependent upon showing anything more than four cards of the suit
he names. It is a common and serious error for a doubler who has doubled soundly with a holding just sufficient to justify the double, to feel that when the answer of the partner happens to be in a suit in which the doubler is strong, it is the duty of the doubler to raise the partner's bid. This is an unsound practice which produces innumerable and serious losses. When the doubler's strength no more than justifies his double, the partner of the doubler should thereafter do all the talking. If south (Dealer) bid one No Trump, West holding:

Q-10-x would have a sound double, but if North pass, East bid

Trump, West should not bid three Hearts; East's forced bid may have been made with four worthless
Hearts and a trickless hand.

LEGISLATION FOR ST. LOUIS BLOCKED BY FILIBUSTER IN STATE SENATE

Casey, Opposing Rapid Transit Act, Seizes on Police Pension Measure to Hold Up Bills.

LEGISLATURE PLANS TO ADJOURN TONIGHT

Salary Increase Provisions and Modified Home Rule Among Matters Likely to Die on Calendar.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 2.—With Senator Casey of Kansas City conducting a filibuster against the St. Louis police pension bill to prevent the Senate from reaching several bills to which he is opposed, and with the Legislature scheduled to quit work tonight, the St. Louis rapid transit bill, proposing indeterminate franchises for corporations and a number of other bills, including the usual group of measures to increase salaries of St. Louis office holders, have little opportunity of passage.

Through the adoption of a resolution yesterday the Senate fixed 4 o'clock this evening as the last hour for consideration of any measures other than appropriation and revenue bills and conference committee reports on measures on which the Senate and House failed to agree. If strictly adhered to this resolution measures to which the Legislature will stop and everything remaining on the calendar will die.

In the face of this condition Senate leaders last night put the procedure in a snare for either a deadlock or for quick cleaning up of unfinished business, which ever may be dictated by conditions arising during the day.

Filibuster Apparently a Race. Last night Senator Casey started his filibuster, which ostensibly is against the police pension bill. However, the measure applies only to St. Louis and he could have no direct interest in it. He talked aimlessly for nearly two hours and wandered far from his subject. He said he was prepared to hold the floor until adjournment, if necessary to prevent the bill from coming to a vote. He finally yielded to the consideration of several measures to which there was no opposition, but he has the floor on police pensions when it again is taken up. It stands at the head of regular calendar, and can be called up at any time for a danger of reaching the floor, which Casey is opposed.

As chairman of the Judiciary Committee, he opposed the rapid transit bill to enable St. Louis and other cities to provide a system of subway, and in the opinion of many that is the measure against which the filibuster really is directed.

To relieve the situation and make possible the consideration of bills to which there was no opposition, Senator Painter, Democratic floor leader, interrupted Casey last night with a motion that seven bills, all local and applicable only to St. Louis, be made a special order for 11:30 this morning. He placed the police pension legislation at the head of the list, the others on it being salary increases for Circuit Attorney Siders' assistants, increases for Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer's assistants, and the Needle bills to provide modified form of home rule for St. Louis by abolishing the power of the Board of Police Commissioners to fix the police department's appropriation.

Pension Bill Special Order. With the police pension bill at the head of list and due for first consideration under the special order, Casey if he has not been induced to abandon his filibuster, can talk until adjournment and prevent any of the other bills from being taken up. There was one and one-half hours for business this morning before the time set for the special order.

Dirigible To Get Weather Maps. By the Associated Press. LAKELAND, N. J., April 2.—Complete weather maps will be relayed through the air to the naval dirigible Los Angeles as a result of a new apparatus shortly to be installed in the ship. Tests of the new apparatus have been in progress the last few days and are said to have proved entirely successful. Complete maps are sent in 15 minutes from Washington radio station.
